Waiter Battles Two Teenagers In N. Y. Subway

NEW YORK (AP) — A 34-year-old waiter who said he likes to see people help each other came to the aid of terrified passengers on an Eighth Avenue subway train Saturday.

Anthony Guardiola grabbed two teen-agers who he said had punched a schoolboy in the face after demanding money, and not getting any. The three battled up and down the moving, half-filled coach until transit police, alerted by frightened passengers, took the two youths, aged 16 and 18, into custody.

Police said they had shoved and demanded money from a number of passengers on the platform of the 167th St. station, and in the train.

Guardiola, a waiter returning home from his job at a midtown hotel, told police he intervened "for one reason only."

"I like to see people stick up for their fellow man," he said. "I just can't stand to see anybody being beaten up by a couple of hoodlums who want to take his money away."

Johnny Bryant, 18, and Ronald Puerteto, 16, were arrested and charged with assault and robbery. Both are Negroes.

The victims of the assault were identified as George Bails, 17, and Donald Divisi, 16, both white.

Wilson Pledges Forces To Stay In West Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson pledged Saturday night that British forces in West Germany will not be reduced without the consent of his nation's allies.

The visiting British prime minister made the statement at a news conference a few hours after flying into West Berlin.

"And decision on a change of force must be made within NATO and must be decided by the alliance and must not be a unilateral decision," Wilson said. "But whatever action is taken, I am sure it will not weaken the alliance."

There have been persistent reports in recent weeks that Britain was about to reduce its 51,000-member Rhine army.

Wilson said there still is a $141-million deficit in the British balance of payments with West Germany.

"We have never expected a payment to the United Kingdom for our troops in Germany," he said. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Selma Whites Protest

By KESLO STURGEON
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A hostile and angry crowd of white persons jeered other whites protesting alleged discrimination against Negroes on Saturday at about the same time Gov. George C. Wallace announced that his troopers would halt a planned march by Negroes from here to Montgomery.

The planned 50-mile march to the Alabama capital, looked to by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as the focal point of his efforts to dramatize the Negro voter situation in Alabama, was scheduled to start Sunday afternoon.

The governor at a special news conference in Montgomery said such a march is not "conducive to the orderly flow of traffic and commerce within and through the State of Alabama." The additional hazard placed on highway travel by any such actions cannot be overestimated.

His statement added: "Such a march cannot and will not be tolerated."

Safety Factor

The decision was reached, he said, in conjunction with the State Department of Public Safety, which would use whatever measures necessary to prevent it.

In Selma, Saturday's mile and a quarter march from a church to the Dallas County Courthouse was the first such action by white persons. The group, called Concerned White Citizens of Alabama, included professors, businessmen, housewives, school teachers and other professional people.

When the taunts came from a crowd of about 500 persons, Public Safety Director Wilson Baker worked his way through the mob in an attempt to disperse it.

He arrested one unidentified man on a charge of disorderly conduct. "I told you to quit cursing and I mean it," Baker said as the heckler was led away by two police officers.

The citizens group, led by the Rev. Joseph Ellwanger of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Birmingham, stopped at the courthouse steps for about 15 minutes while the minister read a statement outlining the group's aims.

Among these was to stop alleged police brutality and intimidation—which officers have denied—and to make it easier for Negroes to register to vote. The voter registration drive began Jan. 18.

U. S. Forces Claim Weapons In Viet Nam War Outmoded

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A flurry of new complaints came Saturday from U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam that they are fighting with shoddy weapons, shortages of ammunition and a lack of equipment — although, they said, some items are for sale on Saigon's black market.

One U.S. Army adviser said Soviet-made ammunition clips taken from the Viet Cong are better quality than those sent from the United States. The American ones jam, he said.

Complaints from U.S. servicemen about their weapons and equipment are nothing new in this war but the latest batch comes at a time when U.S. involvement here has been deepened.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the new complaints would be looked into.

"It is and has been the policy of the U.S. government to give U.S. forces in South Viet Nam a blank check for obtaining any and all material and logistical support needed in connection with their activities. Equipping our forces in South Viet Nam has had and will continue to have the highest priority," a spokesman said.

One U.S. Army adviser stationed in central Viet Nam claimed that although the war was getting more serious, the most up-to-date weapons have not come to all units.

Murder Suspect Takes Own Life After 3 Deaths

CORNING, Calif. (AP) — A mill worker, sought in the killing of a woman and two boys and the savage beating of another woman and two small girls, killed himself with a shotgun Saturday.

Sheriff's Deputy Robert Shirley said Paul Lucero, 38, killed himself in an olive orchard about 200 yards from the spot where his abandoned car had been found.

Lucero died about a mile and a half from the farm home where his estranged second wife, Alberta, was dealt a smashing blow on the head with a rifle stock as she entered the house Friday night. The stock was shattered.

Victims

Slain in the farm home were Mrs. Dolores F. Gifford, 21; her son, Everett Ray, 3, and her brother-in-law, Terry Lee Gifford, 13.

Mrs. Gifford's daughters, Betty Jean, 2, and Rebecca Dee, one month, were beaten with a skilnet and left lying in blood pools.

A posse of 25 sheriff's officers, California Highway Patrol officers, and Corning policemen were closing in on a hideout area of tall grass around the olive trees when Lucero killed himself.

Mrs. Lucero, 38, had told officers her estranged husband clubbed her with the rifle stock.

Mrs. Lucero and Rebecca Dee, the infant, were taken to a Corning hospital.

Betty Jean, who was struck a smashing blow on top of the head with a skilnet, was taken to Sutter Memorial Hospital in Sacramento. She was reported in fair condition.

Mrs. Lucero is the mother by a previous marriage of Terry Gifford and Larry Gifford, Dolores' husband.

Larry arrived home from his job in a lumber mill while officers were investigating the blood-stained house.

Moscow-Peking Relations Sag

MOSCOW (AP) — Relations between Moscow and Peking plunged to a new low Saturday as China accused the Soviet Union of using violence on Asian student demonstrators at the U.S. Embassy Thursday.

A Chinese protest made the "demand that the Soviet government acknowledge its error and apologize to the students who took part in the anti-American demonstration."

At the same time, Chinese authorities unleashed an apparently peaceful demonstration against the Soviet embassy in Peking protesting what China called "the brutal suppression" of the students.

It was described as the first anti-Soviet demonstration in Peking during Communist rule.

The Peking demonstration and demand for an apology came as Communist sources in Moscow said earlier Chinese criticism of Russian policies had pushed a meeting of 19 Communist parties into adopting a tougher line on the Moscow-Peking dispute than originally planned.

The parties ended a meeting here Friday that was boycotted by China and its allies in the divided world Communist movement.

A spokesman for the Soviet Foreign Ministry declined comment.

About 2,000 students — few of them Europeans — attacked the U.S. Embassy Thursday to protest bombings of North Viet Nam. A few hundred of them returned later and battled Soviet police and troops on guard there.

The Chinese protest said 30 of these were injured, nine seriously, and accused Soviet authorities of evicting them from the hospital where they were taken.

The Chinese protest reportedly defended the stoning of the American Embassy as a legitimate reaction to U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam.

When the 19-party meeting opened here last Monday, Soviet leaders were stressing Communist unity. They were reported planning to avoid a public statement on their dispute with China in the final communiqué of the meeting, which ended Friday.

But Peking's attacks provoked a blunt reference to the dispute in a short communiqué, the sources said. Confirmation of this was not available. The communiqué is to be made public next Wednesday.

Beginning a few days before the Moscow meeting, Peking tried to picture Soviet leaders as hypocrites who talked unity but conducted anti-Chinese propaganda. The Chinese attacks did not mention the meeting, which Peking boycotted.

This campaign reached a peak Thursday with the bluntest Chinese statement since former Premier Khrushchev fell. It said in effect that the Kremlin must surrender to Chinese ideological leadership or the dispute would go on.

The statement was contained in the Peking newspaper People's Daily. It said Moscow must renounce policies that included peaceful coexistence.

Communist sources said the Soviet Union presented a draft of the communiqué at the opening meeting that virtually ignored the dispute with China. This did not satisfy those parties present that had to fight pro-Chinese splinter groups at home, such as the Indian and Australian Communists.

The sources said the leader of the Soviet delegation, Mikhail Suslov, began taking a somewhat stronger line when the Chinese attacks continued.

A Kremlin dinner by Soviet leaders for the visiting delegates brought an unexpectedly quick final agreement on the communiqué Friday night. An official announcement at 10:30 p.m. said the meeting was continuing but at 1 a.m. Saturday its end was announced.

An official announcement said seven delegations left for home. They were from Britain, Finland, France, East Germany, West Germany, Hungary and Poland.

LONGSHOREMEN BACK AT JOBS SATURDAY

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — West Gulf Coast District longshoremen Saturday started returning to their jobs after voting overwhelmingly to accept a new contract.

Most piers in Galveston idled since Jan. 11, were humming with activity by midafternoon and all other ports from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La., were expected to be back in full operation by Monday morning.

Ralph A. Massey, district International Longshoremen's Association president, said returns from the some 7,000 longshoremen in the district were "98 to 99 per cent in favor of accepting the contract."

Longshoremen at Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange ratified the new contract Friday night.

House Leaders Push Urgently For School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders are pushing urgently for a vote on President Johnson's school aid bill while the fragile coalition supporting it holds together.

Although there is no sign the coalition is cracking, administration strategists are worried about giving opponents too much time to explode the church-state controversy lying quietly in the bill.

Protestant and Roman Catholic religious leaders and public school officials, long at odds over the government's role in education, are now backing the bill and veterans of past school bill wars find it hard to believe that this can last.

The urgency displayed by the leadership also reflects pressure from the White House for speedy action on the bill, which Johnson regards as a centerpiece of his legislative program.

The House was convened last Friday just to gain one day in the race to get the bill to the floor. Five legislative days must pass after a bill is approved in committee before the Rules Committee can be asked to clear it for a vote.

By meeting for a few minutes Friday — when sessions normally are not held — that request can now be made Tuesday instead of Wednesday.

The formula fight is far from over. Republicans plan to make this the chief issue when the bill reaches the floor, charging it will give millions to the wealthiest school districts while Johnson has said the aim is to improve education for "the children of poverty."

Although major church denominations are supporting the bill now, smaller ones and some Jewish groups are opposing it on constitutional grounds. Their spokesmen are making the rounds of congressional offices.

The bill's supporters insist the kinds of help it would give to parochial schools — none in the form of direct grants — is constitutional. They think they have the votes to pass it. But they wish they could hurry and get it over with.

Pope Leads Italian Mass For 1st Time

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, spiritual ruler of the world's half-billion Roman Catholics, will lead his Church's clergy Sunday in formal introduction of the biggest changes in Catholic worship in at least four centuries.

The pontiff will go to All Saints' church in Rome and there, at an altar facing the congregation, celebrate Mass in Italian, instead of in Latin.

In Roman Catholic churches everywhere, priests will follow the Vatican Ecumenical Council decree simplifying the Church's liturgy and allowing the use of modern languages.

Pope Paul decreed that the reforms of the liturgy decree be effective starting Sunday, the first Sunday of Lent. In many countries bishops already have adopted some or all of the reforms.

The required changes involve the deletion of many prayers and small movements and gestures by the priest. The congregations must say aloud the replies that altar boys alone used to make to certain prayers of the priest.

In addition to these required changes, the council liturgy reform opens the way for the use of modern languages, and altars facing the congregation. These changes are optional and not mandatory. But they have been widely adopted.

There has been resistance. Some Roman Catholics have expressed a preference for the old Mass in Latin, have opposed changes. For example, numerous signs of the cross, "amens" out of context and genuflections will be omitted.

Jack Ruby To Appear At Hearing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, hidden behind jail bars most of the time since he drew the death sentence for killing presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, will emerge for a court hearing Monday.

His appearance may go far toward determining whether the former night spot operator is adjudged insane and thus escapes the electric chair.

Ruby will go before Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown for a hearing on a long-dormant defense request for a sanity trial. Brown scheduled it 10 days ago at the direction of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Individuals acquainted with Ruby, his family and various lawyers who have bowed into and out of the case expect the Dallas jurist to order such a trial. It could be lengthy. Nationally known medical experts are sure to be called.

Seek Sane Evidence

Several psychiatrists have expressed informal opinions that Ruby is mentally disturbed. Some of the lawyers say there has been steady deterioration during his long months in the Dallas County Jail. A doctor gave him tranquilizer pills for what was described as "psychotic depression."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, in turn, promises his staff will do evidence calculated to prove the defendant is sane. Wade said Ruby will be taken into the courtroom although the law does not make his presence mandatory.

This will bring Ruby back into public view for the first time in more than 10 months. He lacks only a few days of marking two anniversaries — his conviction last March 14 for murdering the man who on Nov. 22, 1963, assassinated President John F. Kennedy on a Dallas street, and his 54th birthday March 25.

Another factor in the case aside from Ruby's condition is an effort by his family to fire defense lawyer Joe Tonahill of Jasper, Tex.

Tonahill, disputing the power of attorney claimed by Ruby's sister — Eva Grant of Dallas — has vowed to stay with the case through a final appeal. He and Phil Burleson of Dallas are the only legal staff members on the job throughout. At least five others have come and gone.

Ruby's legal staff filed what is known as an affidavit of insanity in June to delay considering it. The matter was left pending while counsel worked instead on Ruby's appeal of the death sentence.

"Those Who Can Never Forget" Tip Leads To Discovery Of Body

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A tip to The Associated Press in Bonn, Germany, that an alleged former Nazi had been killed in Montevideo led Saturday to the discovery of a mystery body in a trunk in the Uruguayan capital.

The Montevideo police chief, Col. Ventura Rodriguez, said the body was found in a home in a fashionable section of the city. Police would give no positive identification of the body nor the cause of death.

A group calling itself "Those Who Can Never Forget" notified The Associated Press in Bonn that on Feb. 23 in Montevideo it killed Latvian-born Herbert Cukurs, whom it identified as a former Nazi involved in the wartime slaying of 30,000 Jews. It added that he was an aeronautical engineer.

The body could be found in a trunk at Casa Bucartini, Calle Colombia, Bañero Parque Carasco in Montevideo, the group said.

The police found the building without much trouble, went inside and found the body in a big, bloodstained trunk in a bedroom. Police said they also found a plaque and an airline ticket bearing Cukurs' name, three .22-caliber cartridges and two bullets that had not been fired.

Steel Industry, Labor To Resume Talks This Week

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Long-delayed negotiations in the basic steel industry resume Tuesday under the watchful eyes of the White House and the nation's business community.

The talks get under way in an atmosphere of real drama underscored by an onrushing May 1 strike date.

That gives negotiators for the United Steelworkers Union and 11 top steel producers, who set industry pattern, only 53 days to reach agreement on some of the broadest proposals in the history of their collective bargaining.

But the steelworkers are still reeling from a bitter election contest that forced a recess in the basic steel negotiations last January shortly after they started.

Only slight progress was reported in that effort, a portentous sign that negotiators will need all the time they can get. Three times, the union has refused to extend its strike deadline.

Economists have been predicting for months that unrest in steel is an ill omen for the soaring national economy. President Johnson has let it be known he wants a quick and responsible settlement.

Business Waiting

The companies are anxious to get the talks over with and to get back to business as usual. Steel has been pouring from the mills at a thunderous rate with users stockpiling against a possible strike.

They are also concerned over rising foreign imports, another important source for edge steel users. Foreign competition means jobs and revenue irretrievably lost.

The union, too, is casting a wary eye toward the postsettlement period when business dips and layoffs are sure to follow.

The Labor Department announced in Washington it will have two representatives at the tellers' hearings. The department said they will be present only to keep informed as to the nature of the protests, the evidence received by the tellers, and the progress of the hearings.

The union has announced it wants wage increases, settlement of all local issues and enactment of a broad, five-point program of total job security.

There has been no estimate of the money demands by either side but published reports have put it at more than 25 cents. This would be far more than the two per cent the industry says it is willing to accept.

Will Be Sent To Da Nang

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Saturday night two battalions of U. S. Marines — approximately 3,500 men — will be sent to South Viet Nam on request of the South Vietnamese government.

The two battalions of Marines will be assigned to the Da Nang area to strengthen the general security of the Da Nang air base complex, the department said.

The Marines will be drawn from units normally deployed in the Pacific.

"The limited mission of the Marines will be to relieve government of South Viet Nam forces now engaged in security duty for action in the pacification program and in offensive roles against Communist guerrilla forces," a department statement said.

The department explained that the Marines were being sent in following consultation between the governments of South Viet Nam and the United States.

The addition of the Marine battalions will bring the total of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam to about 27,000 men.

Mortar Target

Military sources in South Viet Nam have said that intelligence shows Da Nang is a potential target for Viet Cong mortar crews, such as those which hit Bien Hao on Nov. 1 and Pleiku early in February with a heavy loss in American lives and aircraft.

The big base is 80 miles south of the border between North and South Viet Nam.

A U.S. Marine battery of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles, coupled with a complex radar system, is set to knock down any plane that might try to sneak across the mountains with hostile intent.

On the ground hundreds of American soldiers and Marines have dug in.

American sources in Viet Nam said the gravest threat to Da Nang is posed by Viet Cong mortar men.

GENERAL BROUGHER, SURVIVOR OF BATAAN DEATH MARCH, DIES

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Retired Brig. Gen. William E. Brougher, who commanded the 11th Philippine Division during World War II in the Pacific and was later a Japanese prisoner, died Saturday.

Brougher, 76, a native of Jackson, Miss., had lived in Atlanta since his retirement in 1949.

His division came into contact with the Japanese on Dec. 14, 1941, only seven days after the Pearl Harbor attack.

The 11th Division fought night and day until April 9, 1942, when the American forces surrendered at Bataan. Brougher was taken on the Bataan death march and held prisoner for three and a half years. He was liberated in Manchuria by Soviet forces.

POLICE INVESTIGATE 3 CRASHES FRIDAY

Three accidents were reported to city police Friday evening within the city limits as snow covered streets made driving extremely hazardous.

Two vehicles were damaged in an accident in the 200 block of West Morton about six o'clock Friday night.

Investigating officers reported that a westbound car on West Morton, operated by Mark A. Chenoweth of 1025 W. State, was unable to stop in time to avoid striking the rear of a car driven by Dora L. Duggins of 206 West Morton.

The Duggins car was reported preparing to make a turn into a drive at 206 West Morton. At 7:21 a three car accident was reported to police headquarters, occurring in the 500 block of South Main street.

Officers said that a car driven southbound on South Main by Alice A. Willis of 832 Goltra slowed for a car coming from a drive. A second southbound car, operated by Larry D. Hayes of 1412 South Clay struck the rear of the Willis vehicle, causing it to strike a third car, northbound, driven by Warren E. Wright of Alexander.

About nine o'clock a third collision was reported to police. It occurred at the intersection of South Church and West Morgan.

Dennis R. Walker of Murrayville was cited by police for failure to yield right-of-way after his westbound car on Morgan struck a southbound car on Church driven by George L. Raines Jr. of 139 Prospect.

When you are coating a metal mold with caramelized sugar, it's a good idea to heat the mold before coating because the sugar hardens quickly.

You'll need a fine-meshed strainer if you are planning to sieve frozen thawed raspberries for use as a sauce. The fine-mesh will restrain the seeds!

Ashland Pool Fund Reaches $5,000 Mark

ASHLAND — Contributions to the Ashland swimming pool fund approached the $5,000 level as of Wednesday morning, March 3, ending the ten-day drive.

More than 200 contributors had been listed as of Wednesday morning, even though bad weather slowed the collections in the rural areas.

Contributors may not find their name in the listings since all volunteer solicitors have not been able to turn in their reports.

The drive was purposely concentrated within a ten-day period. No quota was set on the drive, and no pressure was exerted on anyone as to the amount they should give.

An unsolicited contribution was received from Attorney Richard Mills of Virginia. The letter accompanying his check carried this statement: "I personally feel that it is an excellent move and such a recreation facility would be of immense benefit to the Ashland community area. It is encouraging indeed to see this type of interest in our small towns, and I for one am heartily in favor of the efforts."

Anyone making contributions now should take them to Mrs. George Boehner. As soon as all the money is collected, a public meeting will be held and pool plans will be further developed. The final listings will be published later.

RELIGION IN THE NEWS

By JOHN T. WHEELER

KHE SAHN, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American missionary family living in an area surrounded by Viet Congo terrorists has staked its fate on a belief in God and the guns of a U.S. Special Forces team.

From their bamboo hut near the border with Communist North Viet Nam where they live with their two children, John and Carolyn Miller are trying to force open the door of knowledge for the primitive hill people of the Brou tribe.

Most of the area between here and the coastal lowlands 75 miles away is controlled by the Viet Cong.

Even the "secure" town of Khe Sahn, 20 miles south of the North Viet Nam border and 10 miles east of Laos, is frequently entered by Viet Cong at night. Government troops and members of the Special Forces camp regularly set up ambushes around the village on strategic Route 9.

If the terror which has haunted this land for 20 years bothers the young couple, they give little outward sign.

John, 34, of Allentown, Pa., has no weapon and there is no trench or bunker at the Miller home in case of Viet Cong attack.

Carolyn, 26, of Houghton, N.Y., says: "Granted this area could be overrun. I think about it sometimes when the flares go off and the machine guns start firing. But I also think this is where the Lord wants us, so I don't worry too much."

John says, "One thing, a lot of people back home are praying for us."

While brushing the blonde hair of her 2-year-old daughter, Marjorie, Mrs. Miller adds, "Also, we depend on the Special Forces, the district officials and the government troops."

Although a strong force of government troops is in the area, it has not yet proved aggressive in keeping down the Viet Cong. In any critical situation, the Millers would probably have to depend on Capt. Charles A. Allen, 34, of Fort Lee, N.J., and his 14-man Special Forces team. Allen's camp is two miles from Khe Sahn by deeply rutted road.

The Millers are proud of their many friends among the Brous. However, Allen says that one of the tribesmen the Millers considered a good friend was killed as a Viet Cong terrorist.

Miller and his wife are part of the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Summer Institute of Linguistics, a nonsectarian organization based in Santa Ana, Calif.

Their job is twofold: Scientific study of the Brou language and devising an alphabet and written language for the tribesmen, who are a dozen or more centuries behind the Vietnamese lowlanders; and Teaching the Brou to read and write their own language so they will have a bridge to enable them to learn the Vietnamese national language.

Beardstown Packing Firm Needs $5 Million Plant

BEARDSTOWN — The disposal plant which Beardstown will build for the $5 million hog slaughtering industry to be located here by Oscar Mayer company will be more sophisticated than the lately completed Beardstown city plant.

Members of the Industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce say that while the present plant here is constructed for only primary treatment of waste that is flushed into the Illinois river, the disposal system for the packing plant will have to effect a more complete treatment of the industrial waste that also will find its way into the river.

This means, in effect, that no bond issue will be needed and no authorization from voters will be required. The simple way to be adopted, Mayor Tillitt has indicated, will be an increase in water-sewer rates, possibly from the present $25 annually to $40 a year.

It is believed that the cost of the disposal plant for Mayer could be retired in this way in about 10 years.

Dudley Goodell, a member of the industrial committee and brother of John Goodell of Champaign, whose firm probably will build the plant, says that preliminary surveys are under way now. When these surveys and tests are completed Goodell says, a judgment can be made on where the disposal plant will be located and the type to be built.

A Beardstown committee is scheduled to be taken to Madison, Wis., March 10 for a survey of the Mayer holdings in their headquarters city. When they return they are expected to be able to furnish more information on how soon work will be started.

Negotiations to bring the Mayer operation here were finalized two weeks ago with a company announcement that it would spend $5 million or more on a new plant here—its first expansion in years. At least 200 persons will be employed in slaughtering about 2,500 hogs daily.

Kenneth Coil Dies Saturday At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Kenneth M. Coil, 59-year-old Burlington railroad engineer, died at 1 p.m. Saturday, shortly after being admitted to Schmitt Memorial hospital. Mr. Coil, who lived in Beardstown, suffered an apparent heart attack at his home.

New York Stock Market

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market suffered a mild setback in heavy trading last week. Blue chips, which had been leading the market, fared rather poorly.

With brokers reporting the public coming into the market in increasing numbers, interest was centered in the lower priced stocks.

Of the week's 15 most active stocks, eight were priced under $30 a share.

Despite the heavy trading, movement was rather restricted. Volume totaled 32,085,770 shares, compared with 35,512,735 in the holiday-shortened previous week. More than 7 million shares changed hands Thursday. It was the third 7-million-share day of the year.

Market enthusiasm again was dampened by the growing crisis in South Viet Nam. Developments in Indonesia also were an adverse factor.

The decision of the United Steelworkers of America to resume contract negotiations with the 11 basic steel companies failed to help the steel issues.

Corporate earnings and dividend news continued good but the market apparently long since had taken this trend into consideration.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell a point to 335.1 this week.

The Dow Jones average which the previous week topped 900 for the second time this year lost 7.50 last week to 895.98.

Of 1,531 issues traded last week, 643 advanced the 716 declined. There were 242 new 1964-65 highs and 13 new lows.

The international oils led the market in a steep slump early Friday but a rally in the afternoon erased most of the loss.

Bond prices declined in all markets last week, mostly because of nervousness over the nation's balance of payments and gold situation.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled $86.483 million.

King had said earlier that Sunday's major march was designed to place emphasis on the right-to-vote campaign in Alabama.

King Not Available
He was not immediately available for comment after Wallace's stop-the-march announcement, but one of his aides said King will be here to march.

The aide, the Rev. C. T. Vivian, said: "We still plan to march. I don't know what he—Wallace—plans to do to stop us, but he has several alternatives. He can beat us, he can arrest us, or any other number of things he might choose."

Another of King's aides, Andrew Young, said the marchers would have two alternatives if stopped by state troopers.

"One is to go back and get a court order permitting us to march. And the other is to sit down wherever they stop us."

added. "We do, though, think that part of their maintenance cost should be offset by the German purchase of British goods made in Britain."

Asked to state his views on a nuclear-free zone in Europe, Wilson said it was only possible if "there is a reduction of nuclear devices on both sides of the Iron Curtain."

Wilson laid down two other conditions for a nuclear-free zone:

1. Inspection must show that the balance of strength has not been altered on either side of the Iron Curtain.

2. A nuclear-free zone must be over a wider area, not just covering Germany.

He said he would discuss any possible West German initiatives on the question of German reunification when he meets Chancellor Ludwig Erhard on Monday in Bonn.

He reiterated that German reunification must come about on the basis of free elections.

Major College Squads Join Tournament Grind

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some of the season's longest winning streaks in college basketball go on the line Monday when the major teams get down to the serious business of playing post-season tournaments.

Five teams which can boast winning streaks ranging from 10 to 19 games are scheduled to appear on the same court in one section of the first-round National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs.

The NCAA tournament was reduced to 23 teams this year.

As a result, three first-round games will be played at Philadelphia and two at Texas Tech Monday, and two more at Western Kentucky Tuesday.

Wisconsin Dumps Wildcats, 88-76

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Wisconsin, paced by the scoring of Ken Barnes and Jim Bohlen, raced to an 88-76 Big Ten basketball victory over Northwestern Saturday night.

Wisconsin boosted its Big Ten record to 4-9 while Northwestern suffered its 11th defeat against 2 triumphs.

Northwestern led at halftime, 41-35, but the Badgers came on strong in the second half. Barnes and Bohlen scored 24 points each but top honors went to Northwestern's Jim Burns with 25.

With five minutes to play the two teams were tied 65-61. Wisconsin then outscored Northwestern 18-2, as Northwestern kept giving the ball up on turnovers.

DUKE SUFFERS 91-85 CONFERENCE UPSET

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Larry Worsley, North Carolina State's ace fireman, scored 30 points leading the Wolfpack to a 91-85 upset victory over Duke and the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship Saturday night.

N.C. State thus qualified for the NCAA Eastern Regionals at College Park, Md., next Friday.

Duke, the eighth-ranked team in the nation and seeking its third straight championship, led 54-43 with 14:43 to play.

State grabbed the lead at 69-54 and held it through the final frenzied minutes.

Worsley, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder, shot 19 times for 14 baskets, playing the last 35 minutes after watching the start from the bench.

The winners of these games will go into four regional tournaments Friday and Saturday, from which will emerge four teams to fight it out for the NCAA title at Portland, Ore., March 19-20.

The National Invitation Tournament, which no longer gets the champions—except its own—opens its 28th stand in Madison Square Garden Thursday with a field increased from 12 to 14 teams. It also ends March 20.

Small College Tournaments

Also on this week's schedule are the two small college tournaments—the NCAA College Division finals at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday through Friday, and the NAIA championship at Kansas City all week. District and regional playoffs during the past week have reduced the field to 32 for the NAIA and eight for the NCAA.

The match-up of winning streaks takes place in the NCAA first round tripleheader at Philadelphia.

Doubleheader At Tech

The doubleheader at Texas Tech, combining the first-round games for two regionals, sends Oklahoma City against Colorado State University and Notre Dame against Houston.

The first game winner moves into the Far West regional and the second winner into the Midwest regional.

Tuesday's games at Western Kentucky, qualifying two teams for the Mid-East regional, are DePaul vs. Eastern Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference champion, and Dayton vs. the winner of the Mid American Conference title—either Ohio University or Miami of Ohio.

Sites of the four regionals next weekend are the University of Maryland, Kentucky, Kansas State and Brigham Young.

The NCAA tournament automatically takes the champions of 15 conferences and, as usual, several of these races weren't settled before the final weekend of the regular season. The winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament is slated to play the Princeton-Penn State game in the second round at Maryland while Vanderbilt, Southeast Conference winner, and the winner of the Big Ten title drew the byes at Kentucky.

Kansas State Schedule

At Kansas State, the Big Eight champion will play the Notre Dame-Houston winner. Wichita, the Missouri Valley Conference representative, will play the Southwest Conference runner-up. Texas Tech, front-runner in the Southwest, declared itself out because of an ineligible player. San Francisco and UCLA have qualified for the Brigham Young regional by winning conference titles. The Dons will play the Oklahoma City-Colorado State winner and being fined last year.

“He's the big man on this club. Everyone knows it. He makes the highest salary. But a few weeks ago when we needed the big push toward second place, he wasn't there. We felt if he was going to play like that when we needed him, we would bench him.”

“And since he's been benched we've been playing good ball. Bob Ferry has done all right in his place. If we could get Walt to play up to his potential, though, we could have a championship.”

The man in the center of this controversy is in his fourth year in the National Basketball Association, and it turns out that he also is one of the most temperamental.

Recently, the Bullets handed him his third fine in two years. Then Jeannette found him a spot on the end of the bench which he has been occupying steadily of late.

Paul Hoffman, the Bullets' general manager, is the front office and he shakes his head sadly, too.

But at least he doesn't mind talking frankly about the troubles the Bullets are having with their 6-11 center.

Compromise Bill On Revenue Reform Needs Hope & GOP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Hope for a compromise revenue reform plan prevails in the Illinois Legislature as the House gets set this week to adopt a controversial city sales tax hike.

The prospects for other action include a trade of reapportionment bills between the two houses. Conflicting points of view between Republicans and Democrats are represented.

Conceivably, the General Assembly could send to Gov. Otto Kerner its first bill treating the problem of conflict of interest.

In committees, recommendations are slated on whether the state should buy Carthage College for $15 million; whether regional systems of libraries should be established; whether political campaigns should be shortened and whether young drivers should be restricted.

Another committee matter is whether ability tests should be allowed under the Fair Employment Practices Act.

The compromise revenue plan won notice because it was developed by a broadly based group representing business, labor, agriculture, and education. It still needs clearance from Kerner, a Democrat, and Republican leaders in the legislature.

The plan would authorize the legislature to:

Impose a flat rate income tax of up to 3 per cent, and to add up to 2 per cent more if a popular vote authorized. A graduated income tax would be prohibited.

Impose a true sales tax rather than a tax on retailers and give authority to exclude such things as food, clothing and drugs.

Set up a limited classification of tangible personal property and a general classification of intangible personal property and permit abolition of the entire personal property tax.

Require that tax on real estate be uniform.

Allow school districts with 12 grades to have 10 per cent bonding power. If the personal property tax were abolished, this authority would also allow 6 per cent for separate grade or high school districts and 12 per cent for districts with 12 grades.

In the proposed income tax, deductions would be authorized for expenses incurred in the production of income, plus personal and dependency deductions up to those allowed in the federal income tax.

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce said organizations beside itself which presented the proposal to Kerner included the AFL-CIO, Illinois Education Association and the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The chamber said other organizations taking part in the effort to develop a compromise include Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, the Civic Federation, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, Illinois Association of School Boards, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Chicago Teachers Union, Central Illinois Industrial Association, Illinois Manufacturers Association and the Illinois State Bar Association.

Probe Cattle Deaths In Greene

SHERIFF DAROLD McCULLOM of Greene County ordered some 15 head of cattle to be fed at a farm north of Roodhouse Saturday afternoon. He investigated the death of ten calves found during the probe.

Ten Calves Found Dead In Greene

Sheriff Darold McCullom of Greene county Saturday opened an investigation into the death of ten calves found on a farm north of Roodhouse.

Sheriff McCullom identified the owner of the farm as Rosa Knight of Jacksonville.

Lester Miller and Howard Bushnell, neighbors to the Knight farm, told Sheriff McCullom that the cattle were without feed and that several head were apparently dead and lying near the barn.

Greene county authorities found six dead calves in a small shed and three others outside. Bushnell told authorities he discovered one dead calf near his fence line and pulled it to a point near a gate last week. Investigating authorities found the calf in a creek, apparently dumped into the water from a bridge. Bushnell said it was the same calf that he moved to the gate about 1/4 mile away.

The farm is located about 2 1/2 miles north of Roodhouse. Sheriff McCullom said several of the calves had been dead "more than a month." He said, "it was apparent that the cattle had been poorly cared for."

Sheriff McCullom said he was "vitally interested in the failure to dispose of the dead animals and contamination of the running stream." He said he would submit the results of his investigation and a report from a veterinarian to the state's attorney's office before filing any charges.

No charges have been filed as a result of the investigation Saturday.

Capitol Records Plans To Recruit Production Force

William Caldwell, supervisor of the Illinois State Employment Service, 211 East Morgan, announced Saturday that applications for production personnel at the new Capitol Records manufacturing facilities in Jacksonville will be received during the next two weeks.

The Illinois State Employment office is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays. Jobs are available for both men and women for applicants age 19 and up.

Capitol Records has a plant under construction at the corner of Lafayette Road and By-Pass 104 with production activity estimated to start sometime in late March.

Mr. Caldwell said that applications will be received for two weeks before being processed for company officials.

"The first application Monday morning," he said, "will not have any higher priority than one processed during the latter part of next week."

Applications are available at the state employment office only and not at the construction site.

Police related that Hill was southbound on North Main and McPike said he was eastbound on Douglas. McPike said he stopped for the North Main traffic light and proceeded across the street and did not see Hill.

Casey-Bradish Trial Date Set March 23

Circuit Clerk Philip Bradish, through his attorneys filed an answering petition asking that a civil suit contesting his election last November 3 be dismissed.

Joe Casey filed the suit in December asking the circuit court to officially recount the ballots in 12 precincts and declare him the winner for the office of circuit clerk.

Circuit Judge John T. Reardon on Quincy heard arguments on the original motions January 20. Judge Reardon asked Casey's attorneys to consolidate and condense the original petition and gave them until Feb. 10 to do so. Bradish's attorneys were given until March 2 to answer.

The pre-trial conference has been set for March 18th and the trial date for March 23. Bradish is a Republican and won the office by an official count of 35 votes. Casey, a Democrat, asked for a discovery count in twelve precincts and forged ahead by 19 votes in the unofficial count. Casey is asking for an official recount in the same 12 precincts.

Reason for the difference in vote tally is believed to have been the election judges' failure to initial absentee ballots before putting them into the ballot box.

Bradish took the oath of office Dec. 3 along with other county officials on the basis of the official results. He will retain the office until such time as the courts may reverse the official canvass of the county.

Feminine Members Of Illinois House Speak On Issues

By DICK EMERY
Legislative Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD—Although the Illinois Senate is an exclusive gentlemen's club this session, the House has its ladies—seven of them—and on both sides of the political aisle.

All the feminine candidates in both parties won in last November's election, and they all ran high on the ballot. All but one are from Cook County. About the only thing they all agree on is an appointive superintendent of public instruction, and one believes that person should be a woman.

Two of the seven are incumbents. Frances L. Dawson, Evanston teacher and housewife, is beginning her fifth term in the House. Sitting on the Republican side, she favors reapportionment of both houses on a population basis.

Mrs. Dawson also favors an appointive superintendent of public instruction and an increase in state gas tax.

"I would support a flat-rate income tax or a broader sales tax for higher education purposes," Mrs. Dawson says.

Esther Saperstein, the other incumbent, sits on the opposite side of the aisle. She also is in her fifth term as Representative. Hailing from Chicago, Mrs. Saperstein has served on the Chicago board of health and is a past president of the Chicago Region of the Congress of Parent Teacher Associations.

She supports remapping of both houses on a population basis, and favors appointment of the superintendent of public instruction. Mrs. Saperstein would support either a flat-rate or graduated income tax if it were coupled with abolition of the personal property tax.

Mrs. Brooks McCormick, R-Chicago, opposes senate reapportionment based solely on population.

"If this were done, there would be no need for two houses," she says. "We might as well have a unicameral legislature."

Mrs. McCormick also is opposed to a state income tax in any form, but at the same time she feels the personal property tax is inequitable. She also favors an appointive superintendent of public instruction.

Mrs. McCormick is president of the Republican citizens committee in the 9th Congressional District, and a past chairman of the woman's division, United Republican Fund of Illinois.

Democrat Eugenia S. Chapman helped put her husband through law school. Now an Arlington Heights housewife, she taught school in and around Chicago for seven years. She was working as a classroom teacher in Cicero when she met her husband, Gerald.

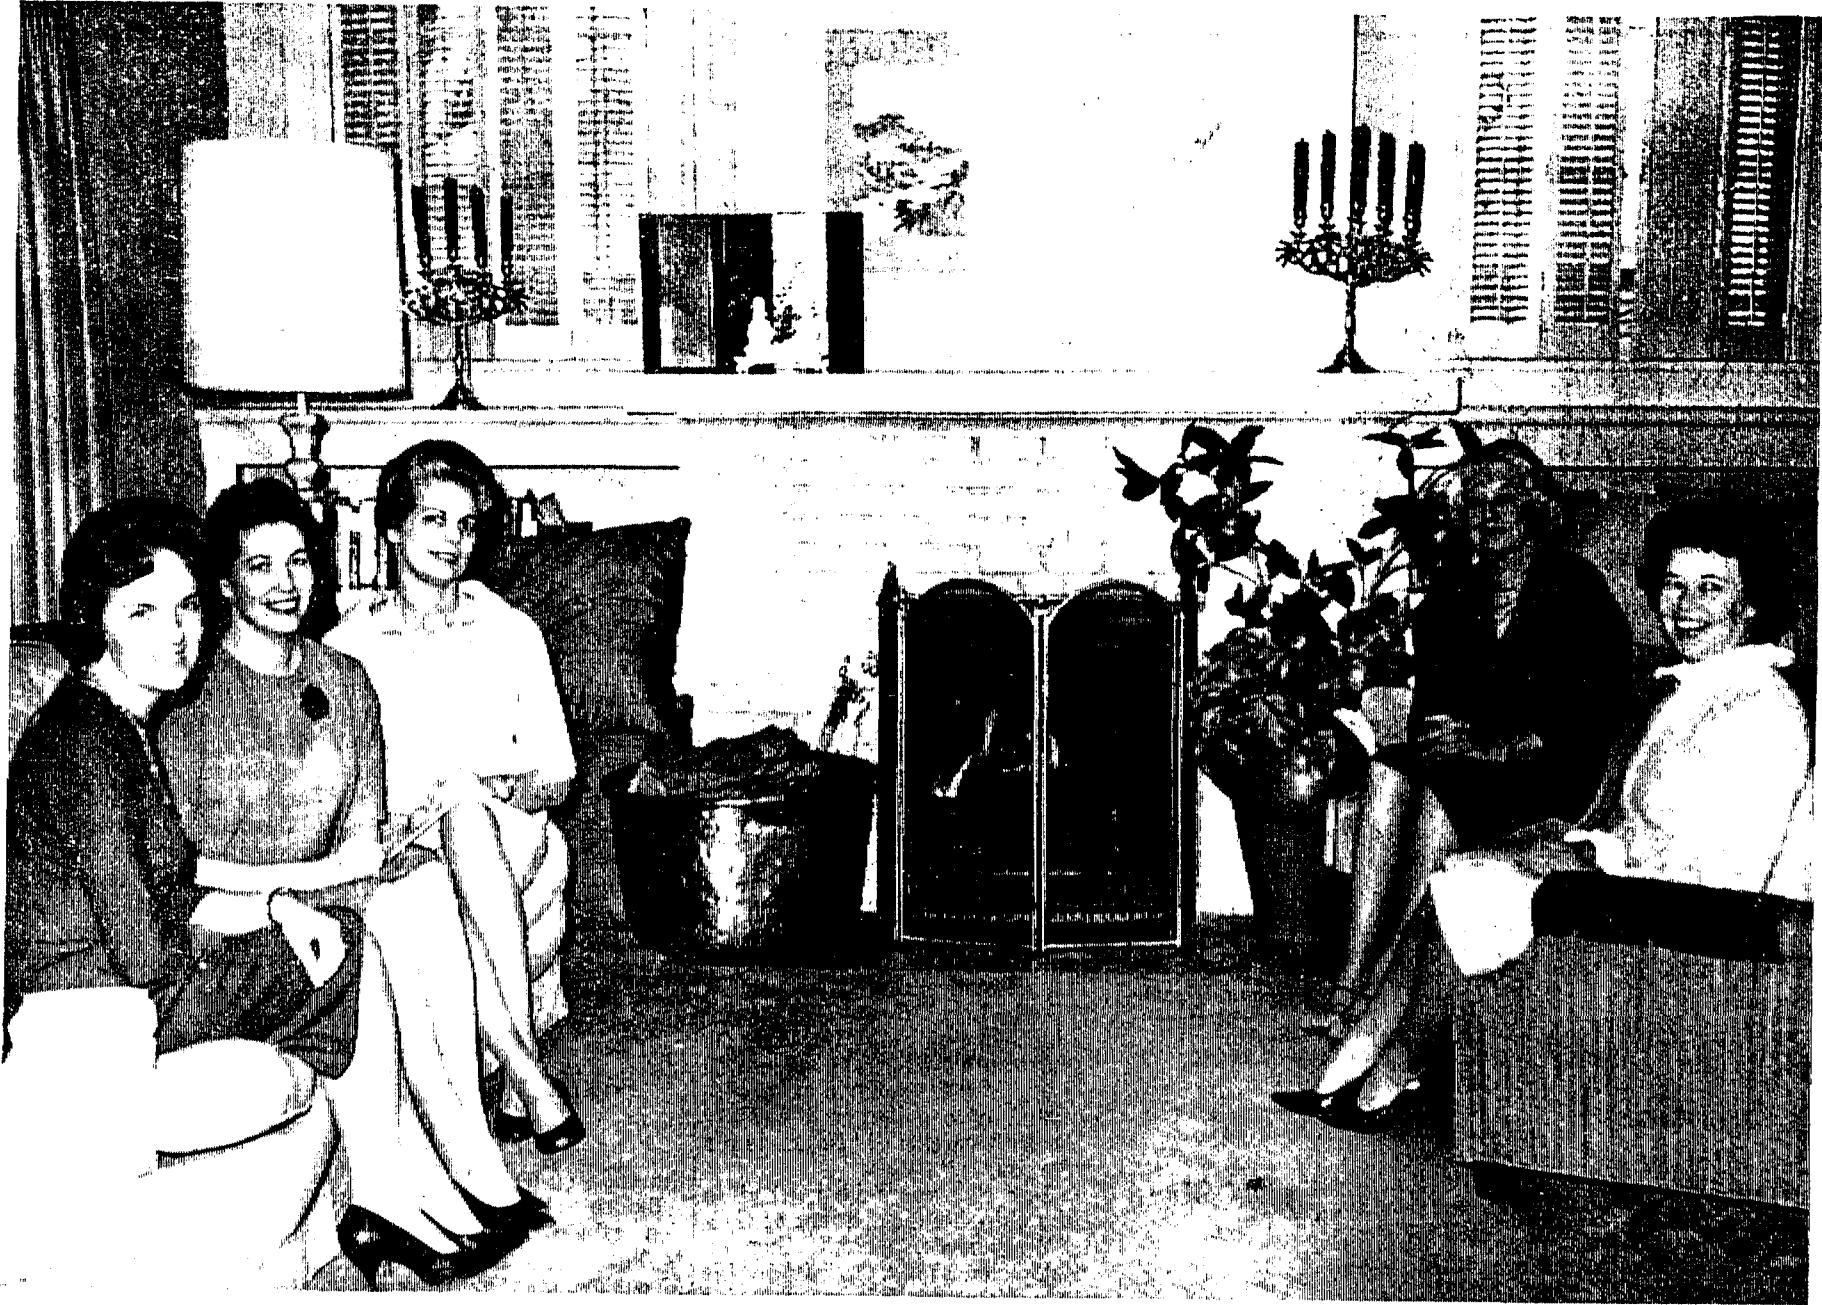

"He always said he married me because he needed someone to put him through law school," she relates. Mrs. Chapman supports redistricting of both houses on an equal population basis, and favors an appointive superintendent of public instruction.

Mrs. Wilma Lee Baptist, 43, wife of Clarence H. Baptist, 961 Woodland Avenue, was an apparent suicide victim late Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Baptist was found by friends about 5:30 p.m. Saturday lying on the living room floor.

City police and Coroner John B. Martin were called to the scene and took Mrs. Baptist to Holy Cross hospital by Lowe ambulance. She was pronounced dead on arrival.

Coroner Martin said death was due to a bullet wound to the head

Flexible Retirement

An inflexible system of retirement at a given age, usually 65, is uneconomic and often harmful in other ways. It cheats society of the contribution that could be made by those who wish to continue beyond the stated retirement age and who are still capable of functioning well.

The foolishness of adherence to a rigid system is being demonstrated at a large Midwestern university, where professors may retire at 65 and must quit at 68. There is one good argument for mandatory retirement; it assures that no member of the faculty can go on teaching into his dotage, performing less and less satisfactorily. But the question is properly being raised: Why not modify the system to provide for a faculty committee's determining in each case whether a man ought to be permitted to continue teaching beyond the stated retirement age if he wishes to do so?

It is a truism that there is wide variance in the way individuals age. Some begin to falter before they are 60; others are keen and vigorous at 75. Statutory retirement allows an institution to "get rid of its dead wood" — a blunt but rather accurate figure of speech. But there ought to be enough flexibility in the system so that those branches which are still green at the fixed retirement age may continue in their work for a while longer.

Key In Farm Picture

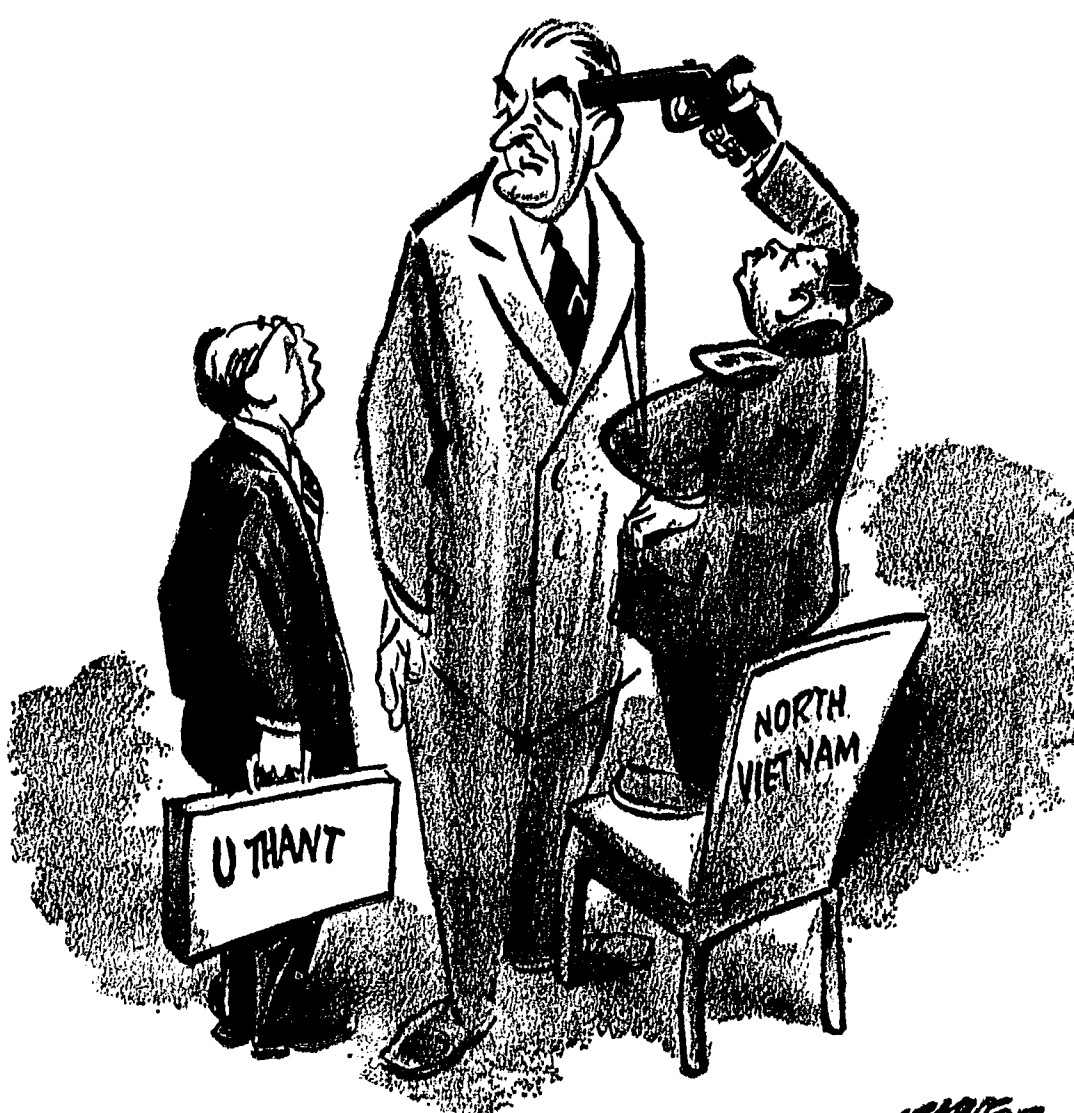

Net income of U.S. farm operators for 1964, it is now estimated, will approximate 12 and a half billion dollars. The individual average is put at $8,600, with an added $2,500 realized from off-farm sources. The $6,100 total is some $200 above that of 1963.

But the revealing thing is that 80 per cent of American farmers, with sales of more than $10,000 each accounted for 60 per cent of the 1964 total net income. Consequently, the Department of Agriculture predicts a continuance in the decline in number of small farms. During the past five years some 600,000 small farms have vanished, being absorbed into larger operations, abandoned, or converted to other use.

Assets of farm proprietors continue to increase, largely because of rising land prices, and farmers' debt is rising at a manageable pace. But the essential fact to bear in mind is that while national population is going up, millions are quitting the farm. This is one of many reasons why the unemployment total is so hard to reduce, and it is a key element in the continuing difficulty of the farm problem.

"You Could at Least Talk to Him!"

Washington

South Viets Cowardly?

Records Don't Show It

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The canard is widespread that South Vietnamese won't die for what they believe.

Let's look at the facts.

In the past four years, Communist Viet Cong murdered 6,000 village leaders, rural police and their wives and children. These were men and women who refused to yield to V.C. threats.

About 1 a.m. one night, 30 armed Viet Cong moved into Binh Thuan hamlet, assassinated with gunshots a young girl, Phan Thi Trinh, chief of the hamlet Republican Youth. The terrorists pinned on her body a death sentence signed Forces for Liberation of South Viet Nam.

Eight o'clock one evening, 20 Viet Cong broke into the house of Ngo Tien, 58, of the Phu Hai hamlet council. They read an indictment condemning him to death, then knocked him down with submachine gun shots. The assassins left the indictment on his body signed Front for Liberation of the South.

At midnight, Viet Cong entered the house of Dang Thien Mon, 70-year-old treasurer of the Trung Hai fishing co-operative. They killed Mon with 10 submachine gun shots and then murdered his 68-year-old wife. They left leaflets of the Front for Liberation of the South.

Many of these Vietnamese took hamlet responsibilities knowing their chance of living was not great.

Within eight months, the V.C. made three bombing attacks on the life of a Dinh Tuong district chief, once blowing up the car he had just gotten out of. He told me he was not about to quit.

In Chu Duc hamlet, Darlac

Province, two hamlet chiefs had been killed and three abducted. That didn't prevent a young primary teacher from taking the job.

Some hamlet chiefs keep foxholes handy near their homes, depend on a youth lookout force to warn them when Viet Cong assassins sneak into the area.

Other officials sleep every night with friends in nearby towns, come back each morning to do their work.

Not all Vietnamese are brave of course. The country has some village militiamen who run and hide when Viet Cong approach, and some regular troops who only go through the motions of fighting. There are turncoats, traitors and weaklings.

But in the past four years, 20,000 Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in action and 25,000 wounded.

Consider, too, how difficult it is to fight under these conditions:

One of the earliest Communist Viet Cong operations was directed against the rural Vietnamese police. The Reds would send a small guerrilla force to the outskirts of a town and entice the police garrison to come out and fight. The villagers expected these rural police to go out and protect them.

While the unit was out of its barracks, trying to grapple with this guerrilla force, another Communist group would slip into town and murder the families of the police left behind in the barracks area.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Safe for next season is "No Time for Sergeants," and absolutely no one could be more delighted than the series' star, Sammy Jackson.

Sammy is 28, dark-haired, 5 feet 1 and full of boyish enthusiasm. Nothing makes his eyes glow more than when he talks about Will Stockdale, the bumbling bumpkin he plays on Monday nights over ABC.

"I think Mac Hyman created in Will Stockdale one of the great characters of all time," says Sammy of the series success.

He cited other factors: the fact that ABC went on the air with its new shows earlier than the other networks; generally good quality of the cast, crew, writing, etc.; identification with the central character — "everybody who was in the service or the Boy Scouts or any group knows somebody like Will."

Sammy figures his association with Will to be nothing less than manifest destiny. He had hitchhiked here from Henderson, N.C., in 1956 with the express purpose of becoming a movie star. His first movie role consisted of one line in the Andy Griffith version of "No Time for Sergeants."

For five years he worked in the shipping department of Capitol Records, moonlighting on television shows. Eventually his coworkers couldn't cover up his absence, and he was fired. Since his acting career wasn't igniting, he headed back home to Henderson. He headed a television show and played disc jockey in nearby Raleigh.

"I had always figured 'No Time for Sergeants' was perfect for a hillbilly like me," said Sammy, who's drawl is scarcely noticeable when he isn't acting. "I tried to get little theaters around Hollywood to star me in it, but never succeeded."

"Then I read in the trade papers I still had them sent to me back home — that Warners was planning a television series based on 'No Time for Sergeants.' I flipped. This was the break I was waiting for."

He composed a letter to the studio brass, and he classifies it as "one of the greatest letters ever written — confident but not cocky, humble but not begging." The bosses were impressed enough to send for Sammy, and he completed the selling job in person.

Not the least part of his delight with "No Time for Sergeants" is his leading lady, Laurie Sibbald. He admits that he had no more than professional interest in her until one day he devilishly threw her an ad lib. She flinched it and tossed it right back to him, later thanked him "for making me think."

They started working more closely. They took her to the deb star ball and saw her in a whole new light.

"We aren't engaged or anything," says Sammy. "But by the end of another season of working together — who knows?"

So They Say

I know of several eminent men who would be regularly in a baddy wagon if they did their drinking on Skid Row instead of Park Avenue. — Justice Bernard Botchy of New York's Appellate Division, decrying the insistence on treating chronic alcoholism as a crime.

Fact

The word cowboy first cropped up in North America in New York state during the American Revolution and was applied to a group of Tories who made a business of raiding the settlements that supported the American cause. But 200 years earlier, before the appearance of the cowboy in the United States in the 19th century, Mexican vaqueros already had perfected the art of handling cattle on horseback in the Southwest with all the tools of the trade — horse, rope, saddle, spur and branding iron.

FINDING THE WAY

It's a 'Show Me' Time

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's one thing to hold a certain moral principle; it's another thing to tell your neighbor about it. In hundreds of American churches and neighborhoods there have been heated discussions about the necessity to discuss these issues. For instance, to believe in excellence in education is one thing; to share that faith with a neighbor is another thing. Is it necessary to do it? To believe that integrity in political government is one thing; to discuss the matter with a neighbor in order to bring him to a point of view is another. The debates have been vigorous.

Yet some of the persons who have defended the right of the individual not to discuss his moral principles, watched the expulsion of students because they had violated honor codes and had cheated. The issue of whether a man should go along with his fellows, or report the violation of the code, is another example of the same problem. Should you just wink at cheating? What are the demands of the code of honor?

Before you answer that question, take a long look at what is happening in many areas of our country. To wink at injustice or to keep quiet when a wrong is tolerated, creates an erosion in agreed upon values. When that coherence goes, then mankind confronts a serious problem.

Peter Marshall once prayed, "O Lord, help us to stand for something less we fall for anything." That eminent Scotch theologian, John Baillie, prayed, "Forgive us, Lord, the unkind word and the unkind silence." It's the unkind silence that creates the bland, meaningless apathy that tolerates evil, winks at injustice, and concludes that there's nothing that anyone can do about it. Someone has to stand against the wrong or the unkind silence condemns us.

There is a fine incident that comes out of the Revolutionary War in American history. A Lutheran preacher by the name of Muhlenberg was also a colonel in the fledgling army.

One day he walked into his pulpit, wearing his preacher's robe. At the close of the sermon he is reported to have said, "There's a time to pray and a time to fight and this is the time to fight." Where upon he threw off his black gown, revealing his army uniform, and led the men of the congregation out to the tough task confronting them. It was one thing for him to hold a moral principle; it was another thing to share it with his neighbor. This is a contemporary fact to be considered as we confront the ancient discipline of Lent.

If you believe in racial justice, do you share that belief with your neighbor? Do you keep it to yourself?

Or could this be the time when we demonstrate in word and deed, the insistence of the song in "My Fair Lady":

"Don't talk of love, show me!"

The Mature Parent

Integrate the Deprived

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

She's the child of Italian-born parents. The narrow halls of her tenement apartment house reek with the stench of poverty. Her bed is a pallet behind the kitchen stove which she shares with a 70-year-old grandmother. Although 14, she has been finding the demands of her sixth grade assignments too much for her and has been cutting classes. Because she is basically so bright, I was dismayed to hear of these troubles and said, "You're too intelligent a girl to lose school like this. If you were a Simple Simon, it would be different. But you're no Simple Simon, Maria."

"Who's he?" she said.

Her question is my partial answer to a reader who writes: "You have never stated your opinion on school integration. Why are you ducking, Mrs. Lawrence? Are you one of those 'progressives' who thinks it's all right to wreck the educational standards of white children's schools by filling them with ignorant Negro children?"

Or with ignorant white ones?

Oh yes, my Maria—that ignorant white child—is also quite a threat to the "educational standards" of our nice, middle-class school systems.

If she'd spent her whole life on the moon she couldn't know less than she does about Simple Simon and all he represents. She knows nothing about Mother Goose rhymes, engraved silver mugs on birthdays, preserves — cooked vegetables, or toothbrushes. Like an underprivileged Negro child who was also denied these middle-class advantages, my white Maria was unable to bring to school that preschool learning which would have made it possible to use what school had to offer.

That's why she's still in the sixth grade. Like underprivileged Negro children who never heard of Simple Simon, she started school so far behind the privileged kids who DID know about him that she'll never catch up.

It won't be just ignorant Negro children who will wreck the "educational standards" of our nice, middle-class schools. If there's wrecking ahead, it will be preschool deprivation that does it, whatever its color.

You want my opinion? I'm for public nursery schools. I am for filling the learning vacuum of early childhoods of our Marias, black and white, so that they can become assets to our public school systems instead of the burdens they now are. I'm for the integration of deprived children.

Fewer Calories in Cocoa

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Which has more calories, chocolate or cocoa? What are they both made from?

A—Cooking chocolate contains from 50 to 58 per cent by weight of cacao fat, but the fat content of cocoa ranges only from 10 to 22 per cent. Breakfast cocoa, however, must contain at least 22 per cent fat. Chocolate and cocoa are products made from cacao beans from cacao trees which thrive only in tropical climates.

Q—Isn't it true that fish is good brain food? I tell my son that if he will eat more fish he will get better grades at school.

A—Unfortunately neither fish nor any other one particular food is "brain food." Eating it is no guarantee of intellectual speed-up. It is true, however, that fish provides phosphorus-containing compounds and that the nerve tissue in our brains is rich in phosphorus. But meat, poultry, eggs and milk are also rich in phosphorus-containing compounds.

Office Cleanliness Brigade

Raps Boyle's Littered Desk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, they're at it again.

"They" are the office cleanliness brigade who keep spotless desks themselves and want everybody else to keep a neat desk, too.

You find these ataxiophobes and anathophobes in every office.

An ataxiophobe is a person with a morbid dread of disorder.

An anathophobe is a person with a morbid dread of dust. Their motto is, "every paper clip has its place — let's put it there."

They don't have blood in their veins. If you screwed off their heads and turned them upside down, detergent would run out. Squads of these self-appointed janitors, these memo-pad Muscogees, have been going by my desk lately muttering things like "this is some too far."

"Really, he's giving the place a bad name."

"It looks like the city dump. I think I saw a rat run out of it yesterday."

Then they go back to their own spotless desks, brushing at their clothing as if they had become contaminated, and spend the rest of the day cleaning their fingernails. They drop anonymous notes in the office suggestion box complaining my desk has become a public health menace.

Well, I say, to hell with all such neurotic nice-Nellies. If they want to clean up something, why don't they clean up City Hall?

What do I care if they call me "the Mayor of Germ Harbor?" A man's desk should have a worked-in look, just as his home should have a lived-in look. It should bear the signature of his toil and dreams. I feel a sense of pity when I see an office full of shining desks, their tops as barren of signs of human life as so many dunes in a desert. They seem so meaningless.

Who works at these desks? A number of nameless moles? Their desks show no evidence of belonging to anybody. Maybe they are manned by faceless automatons. Who cares?

I take pride in the condition of my desk. The two-foot pile of debris on it — which also has overflowed an adjoining book-cabinet — took me as long to accumulate as it did the Pharaoh Cheops to build his great Pyramid. But my memorial is just as distinctive in its small way as his.

No one could mistake his pyramid for any other; no one could mistake my desk for any other.

Before turning out baked custard from his cups, loosen the sides with the tip of a thin-bladed knife or a small spatula.

THREE SPECIALISTS worked hard Monday as they picked what they thought were the best in the annual "on-hoof" show sponsored by the Morgan County Pork Producers at the Woodson sales barn.

How close they came will be announced Monday night when the findings of the dressed pork specialists of the Hunter Packing Co. are revealed at the "follow-up" meeting to be held at the 4-H

F. Lawless, Jr., as the best in the show. The pen averaged 197 pounds and all were graded No. 1.

The three young men in the third picture are among the Morgan county swine breeders who are working constantly for the production of superior pork. They are F. Alan Heaton of Murrayville, past president of Morgan County Pork Producers; Charles Jones of Jones Meat Service, and Richard DeOrnellas, route 4, now president of the association.

Breeders of the top 10 individual entries in the show are shown above. The best entry was sent to the show by Gaylon Martin, 18, a freshman in agriculture at Western Illinois U., Macomb. In his absence his ribbon was accepted by his father, Eugene, route 1.

Murrayville; Howard Schone, Chapin.

Standing, Raymond Anderson, route 4; Donald W. Houston, route 1; Richard DeOrnellas, route 4; Bobby DeOrnellas, route 4; Glenn Schone, Chapin.

All housewives are urged to attend the report meeting Monday night. Sigmon will give a report on the slaughter grade and weight of the hogs entered in last Monday's show; Sims will discuss factors in the production of high quality pork; Jones will give a demonstration on the difference between individual cuts of a high grade hog and a low grade hog; Miss Frances Webb, Morgan-Scott home adviser will discuss the proper preparation of pork, and Miss Janice Thornley of Ashland—Miss Illinois Pork Queen—will present the individual ribbons and trophies.

Home Garden Disease Control Essential

Successful disease control in the home garden should start with the purchase of the best seed or planting material and should continue in the seedbed, through the gardening season and even after harvest. A number of different practices, used collectively, keep most diseases in check, says University of Illinois plant pathologist Mal Shurtleff.

Here are his tips for preventing diseases in the home garden:

1. Grow adapted varieties and types of plants recommended for the local area. Such varieties should include those having resistance to common diseases.
2. Buy disease-free planting stock, certified or inspected, if possible.
3. Treat flower and vegetable seed against seed rot and seedling blights by dusting lightly with captan, Arasan, Spergon or similar material. These materials are usually available in one-ounce packages.

4. Plant in a well-prepared, fertile, well-drained seedbed. Follow suggested planting instructions and cultural practices. Vigorously growing plants usually have the fewest disease problems.
5. Follow a recommended crop rotation that excludes the same or closely related plants in the same garden area for three or four years or more. This practice helps to "starve out" disease-producing organisms.

6. Keep down weeds, insects and rodents by cultural and chemical means. Insects and rodents also spread many diseases.

7. Check infection. Carefully collect and burn infected plants or plant parts when you first discover them. After harvest, burn, bury or compost the tops of annual plants.
8. Store only sound, dry, blemish-free fruits and vegetables. Maintain the suggested temperature and humidity in storage.

9. Where necessary, apply fungicides on a regular preventive schedule. Tree, bramble and bush fruits, rose tomatoes, potatoes and vine crops are the only plants grown around the home that normally need a protective fungicide. Captan, thiram and zineb are preferred for use on most fruits, while maneb or zineb work best on vegetables. All four fungicides, as well as folpet—Phaltan—are useful on flowers, trees and shrubs to control a wide range of leaf spots and blights, fruit rots, flower blights and other diseases. If powdery mildew is a problem on such flowers as lilacs, roses, chrysanthemums and phlox, gardeners can and karathane to the spray mixture. Many other fungicides are available for more specific jobs.

Timeliness Important

"It pays to read the package label before you buy. Then be sure to apply the right chemicals, at the right times, in the right way. In this way you can eliminate the danger of damaging tender plants or of toxic residues remaining on ripening fruits and vegetables," advises Shurtleff.

"Ask your local farm adviser for bulletins that will help your 'green-thumb' efforts," adds Shurtleff.

Plan Chemical Safety Meeting In Virginia

VIRGINIA — R. D. Meridith,

Cass county farm adviser, announces that a county meeting has been planned on the safe use of all chemicals and also on minimum tillage. The meeting will be held in cooperation with the adult night school and will meet in the little gym at the Virginia high school at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 10.

Three University of Illinois Extension specialists will be present to bring all of the latest information on both old and new chemicals. Specialists attending will be Dr. H. B. Petty, Extension entomologist; Dr. E. L. Knake, weed control specialist, and Dr. Tom Hinesly, soil management specialist.

Meridith indicates that this is a public meeting and all interested farmers are welcome to attend. Local implement dealers will be invited to have equipment on display.

CARROLLTON CO-OP TO MEET MARCH 20

CARROLLTON — The annual meeting of the Carrollton Farmer's Elevator, postponed from February 27 because of weather conditions, will be held March 20. The meeting will be in the Carrollton Community Unit High School and the speaker will be Elmer Messman of Bloomington, a representative of the Illinois Grain Company as originally scheduled.

The morning session will be given to reports and the election of a board of directors and the program will be presented in the afternoon.

The noon meal will be served by the women of all the churches in Carrollton.

Conversion To Narrow Rows Rather Costly

Tooling up to plant, cultivate and harvest narrow-row corn and soybeans is an involved and expensive process. For most farmers the choice between standard and narrow spacing hinges on whether or not potential yield increase in narrow-row planting will offset the cost of adopting the technique.

University of Illinois farm management economist A. G. Mueller recently analyzed costs for wide and narrow rows using new 4-row equipment as a base and calculating the cost changes that would result from use of the new 6-row equipment for either 40- or 30-inch rows.

In his analysis, Mueller included harvesting equipment with a 2-row combine head for 4-row equipment and a 3-row head for either regular or narrow 6-row equipment. The combine width is the same for either regular or narrow-row spacing for soybeans.

More Travel Time

Operating cost changes included pre-emergence herbicides used with a 14-inch band in narrow-row spacing, additional seed for soybeans and added travel time for the reduced working width of narrow rows over regular rows.

Mueller also took into account depreciation and interest charges on the added investment in new equipment. Costs were included for planter, cultivator and new picker head for the combine.

When figures showing operating costs and depreciation and interest on new equipment were used in a break-even analysis, Mueller reports that the regular 6-row equipment comes within $68 of the cost for 4-row equipment. Therefore, its use might be justified by timeliness of field operations. The narrow 6-row equipment, however, added $973 to costs over those of the 4-row equipment and costs of $905 ($973 - $68) more than regular 6 row equipment.

In view of these expenses, what yields would be needed to break even on a 400-acre farm?

Two Bushels More

Mueller says that with 200 acres in soybeans and soybeans at $2.50 a bushel it would take an additional 390 bushels, or an average yield increase of two bushels an acre. This break-even point assumes that soybeans would cover all of the added costs on the 400 acres.

If the 400 acres were planted in corn, however, the added costs of narrow rows would be $812. At $1 a bushel, the needed break-even yield increase would be just over two bushels an acre.

Any additional fertilizer cost should also be considered in the total costs, Mueller points out. And a farmer who operates under a crop-share lease should remember that the added costs of the change would fall on the tenant, whose share of the yield increase may be only half of the total.

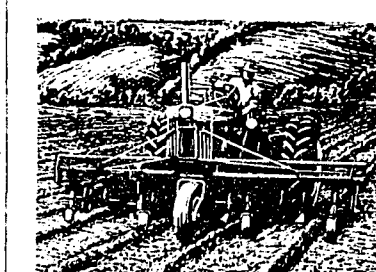

Pork Producers Of Cass Plan Annual Meeting

VIRGINIA — The Cass County Pork Producers will hold its second annual meeting at the Virginia Country club on Thursday, March 11. Advance ticket sales are being made by the members.

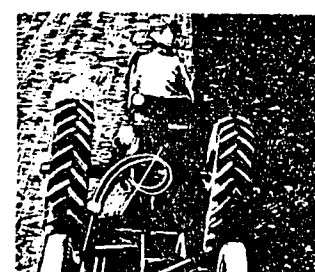

John Cline, activities chairman, will report on the year's work. Miss Janice Thornley of Ashland was crowned Miss Illinois Pork Queen during the year. The first market hog show was held for all producers. Individual members also participated in many activities.

MEAT USE IN U.S. KEEPS GOING UP!

Consumption of meat per person in the U. S. increased again in 1962. The total including poultry was 212 pounds — an increase of 5 pounds over the 1961 figure.

Beef and veal consumption were up 6 pounds per person. On the average the consumption of lamb, mutton and pork was down about 1 pound. Poultry consumption was up slightly.

The upward trend of meat eating has extended over thirty years, allowing for year to year and cyclical fluctuations.

Compared to other countries, we stand 5th in per capita consumption. New Zealand, Australia, Argentina and Uruguay all rank ahead of us in this matter.

Let's Go Birding

Honkers Parade

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Spring, or almost spring, speaks different messages to different people. Some grumble at the March winds which blow everything upside down; others welcome them for their kite flying or for drying up the muddy roads. Some digest the seed catalogues in search of something new for their vegetable or fruit gardens or flowers too; others plan their attack upon spring house-cleaning.

Most people, however, are alike in their desire to see or hear the birds that come in the spring. Of all the colorful and musical birds the geese are different: they can't sing, and they don't wear gaudy feather cloaks. Some admirers of these large waterfowl may consider the deep "ka - donk" or "ha-lunk" or nasal "houck" of geese as musical honking.

Certainly the kind of barking of a flock before it can be seen is music to many who are longing for spring. In fact, there is no longer quiet like that strange nostalgia for the honkers on pre-spring days and nights.

Music in Morgan
And this music sprinkled Morgan County and the surrounding counties the last of February. Enormous flocks of Canada Geese—the honker with the black-stocking head and neck—stretched themselves across the sky in one long single file or in the long V characteristic of geese. During those warm sunny days those large dark birds high against the flawless blue sky shone like constellations.

Bird watchers are often fascinated by the orderliness of the geese formation and the adept guidance of the lead-gander that seems to break the air currents for the smooth sailing of his many cohorts.

Something Odd
As some of us were watching the maneuvers of just such a flock of honkers, we noticed something different among the geese: three smaller forms that proved to be three Mallard Ducks. They were keeping up the pace of their escorts that they had adopted.

Soon above the moving V we caught the flash of a white moving object. Upon careful examination we knew that it was a gull. There it was flying at the same speed as the geese and maintaining its place in the moving picture as if it were a traffic cop. Or could it have been a drum major?

It did dip and turn and circle as it accompanied the geese. And we would like to think that it was a drum major performing for the honkers on parade and for us.

All poisonous snakes are immune to their own poison.

Previews Of Progress

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

Now that you science-minded they are now working on. These young people are preparing entries for the Science Fair, it may be a good time to recall the Preview of Progress show you saw recently. Sometimes things move so fast in these shows that you miss a point that could be useful.

Since 1946 these specially trained two-man teams from General Motors have been putting on Previews of Progress science shows. These shows have been given in 15 different languages to more than 32,000,000 students and adults in the United States, and 22 foreign countries.

One of the seven teams now touring the United States visited the Jacksonville area in the middle of January. The team presented its 45-minute lecture at Jacksonville High School on Monday January 11. The same lecture was given at Jonathan Turner Junior High School on Wednesday, January 20. The members of the team that visited Jacksonville are Hull Quarrier and Mike Zemlin of the General Motors Public relations staff.

The show is not a commercial for General Motors, though it does cover the field in which the company works. The President of General Motors, John F. Gordon, explains the purpose of these demonstrations. "We seek through Preview to inspire more young people to make science and engineering their career and provide the trained talent America must have to keep pace with the promise of the future."

Need For Scientists

At present there is a shortage of scientists and engineers. Many companies, like General Motors, are offering top salaries to attract top scientists and engineers. These jobs will continue at a premium for a long time to come.

So that's what the Previews of Science shows are all about. Besides accomplishing its purpose of interesting many students in engineering the show probably also gave them ideas for the science projects which steam powered jet the history of jet propulsion is traced to our modern gas turbine engines.

Another star in the Previews of Progress show is the Reuleaux Triangle. This triangle has rounded sides so that it can roll smoothly as a wheel.

The show also goes into the world of chemistry to produce rubber in a pop bottle and a small piece of plastic foam used in automobile and airplane crash pads.

Prayer Poem— To Lead The Drop-Outs Back

By Mary Pence Claywell

O why not try another "Tune," to "draw" our young ones in, The WACKY "Yeah, Yeah" CHAOS,

Strikes no SWEET chords, within—
No doubt, the many, we would draw
And lift to "higher" ground,
Have fed too long, on "Yeah, Yeah,"

And need a BETTER sound
To spark AMBITION, HOPE, FAITH,

MORAL DREAMS, and GOALS indeed,
And something less EXCITING,
To give courage, Lord, to succeed:
Please harness, Lord, excitement,

The heathenish, coarser thrill,
That oft leads young, and old, alike
Down the trail... to "Heart-break Hill!"

Please give our "Drop-outs" courage,
I'm sure, Lord, MOST will TRY,
And in this "second" chance retrieve

The PRIZE... they let slip by!
"Encamp, These, 'round-about them,"

If fear, or doubt, assail,
And strengthen those who falter,
And please... don't let them fail!

City Dog Pound

By John Rankin

Although they have a dog of their own, when Eddie finds a hungry, half-frozen puppy crying outside his folks let him bring the stray inside. Eddie's mother gives the shivering little fellow some warm milk, and he even gets a name—Stormy.

Mom brought a box and some bedding and tucked the grateful pup in for the night. He responded by licking her hand and wagging his tail vigorously. Then he curled up and went to sleep.

Back in the living room Mom had a searching look in her eye as she turned to Dad. "Of course we'll have to make it known that we're keeping a strange pup here, William," she said thoughtfully. "Perhaps we should run an item in the Janesville Tribune."

Dad Suggests Dog Pound

Dad lit a fresh cigar and tossed the match in a tray before he said, "The practical way is to turn him over to the city dog pound. Let the folks down there find the pup's owner—and if they fail to do so we can always go get him."

"The city dog pound!" Mom gasped. "I'd hesitate to send Stormy to such a place—and would never forgive myself if something should happen to the little fellow down there."

"Yeah, I've heard plenty about that smelly place," Eddie put in. "Our teacher says it's a pigsty and a dead end for most dogs."

"It's worse than a pigsty," Mom snapped. "It's just a little brick building without lights or ventilation—and it's cold and damp inside where often as many as thirty or more dogs are thrown in together."

Dad knocked the ashes from his cigar with an air of impatience. "Nonsense! Alice. It's ridiculous to believe that the city of Janesville—with its splendid schools and colleges and its cultural background—would tolerate such a condition," he declared.

"But it's the way I said," Mom shot back. "A committee from our bridge club visited the place just recently and found it an unfit shelter for swine—to say nothing of man's best friend!"

"Nevertheless, I'm sure our little wail will be in good hands at the city pound," Dad said firmly. Then he got up and left the room.

Discover Stormy's Owner
The next night Dad and Eddie were in the living room when Mom came in with a copy of the evening Tribune. "I'm sure this is Stormy's owner," she said, pointing to the lost column.

Dad reached for the paper and scanned it hurriedly. "That's Stormy, all right," he nodded. "His owner lives across town on Oak street and her name is Marie Jones."

"Yeah, she's the little kid that lives with her grandmother," Eddie alerted. "She's crippled or something and has to go to a special school of some kind."

After a moment's meditation Mom turned to Dad. "Shall we call the police, William, and let them get in touch with the little girl's grandmother?"

"Why bother with the police?"

Dad said with a waving gesture. "I'll go down first thing in the morning and pick Stormy up and take him to the little kid myself."

The next morning Eddie had left for school and Mom was in the kitchen when Dad took off for the dog pound. In a scant half hour he was back slamming the door angrily and he came in. "You were right, Alice," he admitted between clenched teeth. "That dump they call the dog pound is a disgrace to the city of Janesville!"

Mom turned from the stove to stare aghast at Dad. "Why William! Is there something wrong? You didn't find Stormy down there, perhaps?"

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?

There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.

The hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.

In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth. The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis, it operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

THE CORN SITUATION AND OUTLOOK

The corn market has been favorable for sellers, but not so good for farmers who have had to buy feed this winter. Prices have ranged around 10 cents a bushel higher than they were a year ago.

The principal factors raising the price of corn seem to be as follows: (1) The 1964 crop was smaller than that of 1963. (2) The price support level is higher. (3) The CCC selling prices are higher. (4) Prices of live stock are up.

Drought cut crop. The 1964 crop was cut by drought in many areas, especially on the borders of the main corn-producing belt. Production was estimated at 3,549 million bushels, 13 percent less than the record-large crop harvested the year before.

By January 1 farm stocks of corn were down to 2,784 million bushels, 14 percent less than a year earlier. Stocks stored off farms (in elevators, CCC bins, mills, warehouses, etc.) totaled 1,138 million bushels, practically the same as one year before. Total stocks of corn at the first of the year were listed at 3,922 million bushels, off 11 percent from one year earlier.

CCC stocks decline. On February 5 the CCC reported uncommitted holdings of 716 million bushels, 7 percent less than on the comparable date a year ago. Our latest report on the amount under price support and resale is for January 1. On that date the total was 550 million bushels, 5 percent less than at the beginning of 1964.

The disappearance of corn during the October-December quarter was 1,137 million bushels, up 8 percent from a year earlier and probably a new record high. The increased disappearance was all in feed and other untabulated disappearance from farms. Part of this apparent increase in feed use may be a result of some overestimation of the 1964 crop.

Exports slowed by dock strike. Exports of corn during the fourth quarter totaled 143 million bushels, 47 million bushels were used in wet process milling (for syrup, starch, etc.) and around 7 million were used for making alcohol. All of these figures were about the same as in the year before.

Exports were slowed by the dock strike after January 1. Industrial use has probably continued near last year's levels. Feed use may be about the same as that of a year ago. Farmers may have 5 to 8 percent fewer hogs. But they are believed to be feeding as many cattle as they fed last year. And production of milk, broilers and eggs is up from last winter. The shortage of hay in many areas increases the demand for corn.

CCC sales. The CCC sold only 42 million bushels from October 1 to mid-December, about half as much as a year earlier. But from mid-December to February 5 sales totaled nearly 100 million bushels, about five times as much as last year.

The minimum sale price for CCC corn is the support level plus 1½ cents for each month since October. By April the minimum sale price for CCC corn will be 6 cents over the minimum a year earlier.

GEORGE SUDETH has sold his fertilizer facilities at Prentice to the Morgan County Service Co., it was announced last week.

All fixed assets of the Sudeth firm were included in the transfer and the Service company will add liquid mixed fertilizers to the services offered to farmers. Four tanks hold 30,000 gallons of ingredients.

The first photo shows the Sudeth bulk blender in action as it prepares a high-quality 50-80-60 fertilizer prescribed by a soil test. The company now has at Prentice one liquid spreader, three broadcast spreader trucks and four 2½ ton tractor-drawn spreaders.

Paul Kliegl of Jacksonville, standing, will be the sales manager of the new branch, and John Bradshaw, seated, a former Sudeth employee, will remain with the new firm.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

THE CORN SITUATION AND OUTLOOK

The corn market has been favorable for sellers, but not so good for farmers who have had to buy feed this winter. Prices have ranged around 10 cents a bushel higher than they were a year ago.

The principal factors raising the price of corn seem to be as follows: (1) The 1964 crop was smaller than that of 1963. (2) The price support level is higher. (3) The CCC selling prices are higher. (4) Prices of live stock are up.

Drouth cut crop. The 1964 crop was cut by drouth in many areas, especially on the borders of the main corn-producing belt. Production was estimated at 3,549 million bushels, 13 percent less than the record-large crop harvested the year before. By January 1 farm stocks of corn were down to 2,784 million bushels, 14 percent less than a year earlier. Stocks stored off farms (in elevators, CCC bins, mills, warehouses, etc.) totaled 1,138 million bushels, practically the same as one year before. Total stocks of corn at the first of the year were listed at 3,922 million bushels, off 11 percent from one year earlier.

CCC stocks decline. On February 5 the CCC reported uncommitted holdings of 716 million bushels, 7 percent less than on the comparable date a year ago. Our latest report on the amount under price support and resale is for January 1. On that date the total was 550 million bushels, 5 percent less than at the beginning of 1964.

The disappearance of corn during the October-December quarter was 1,137 million bushels, up 8 percent from a year earlier and probably a new record high. The increased disappearance was all in feed and other untabulated disappearance from farms. Part of this apparent increase in feed use may be a result of some overestimation of the 1964 crop.

Exports slowed by dock strike. Exports of corn during the fourth quarter totaled 143 million bushels, 47 million bushels were used in wet process milling (for syrup, starch, etc.) and around 7 million were used for making alcohol. All of these figures were about the same as in the year before.

Exports were slowed by the dock strike after January 1. Industrial use has probably continued near last year's levels. Feed use may be about the same as that of a year ago. Farmers may have 5 to 8 percent fewer hogs. But they are believed to be feeding as many cattle as they fed last year. And production of milk, broilers and eggs is up from last winter. The shortage of hay in many areas increases the demand for corn.

CCC sales. The CCC sold only 42 million bushels from October 1 to mid-December, about half as much as a year earlier. But from mid-December to February 5 sales totaled nearly 100 million bushels, about five times as much as last year.

The minimum sale price for CCC corn is the support level plus 1½ cents for each month since October. By April the minimum sale price for CCC corn will be 6 cents over the minimum a year earlier.

If North had held a really strong hand he would have shown it by redoubling at his first turn and jumping in spades later. Hence his immediate jump to three spades was not a forcing bid but South felt that his hand warranted a bid of game.

He won the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts and took stock of the situation. He had one trump loser, no losers in either red suit and two or three potential club losers, depending on the location of the ace of clubs. He could discard one of dummy's clubs on a high diamond but that would still leave three potential club losers and West's double of the one spade opening marked him with the ace of clubs. Some sort of end play was indicated and South saw that he could probably develop one by use of loser on loser technique.

He ruffed a heart at trick two and led a trump toward dummy. West went right up with his ace and got out of the lead by playing his other trump.

Now South cashed his three high diamonds to discard one club from dummy. Then he played his nine of diamonds and when West played his jack South executed the end play by discarding another club from dummy.

West had two tricks in and was on lead. If he played a club South's king would become good. If he played a heart, South would discard another club from dummy and ruff in his own hand.

Mrs. Harold Dennis Brannan

Brannan And Scott Wedding

VIRGINIA — Miss Carolyn Ann Scott and Harold Dennis Brannan were united in marriage February twenty-seventh at St. Luke's Catholic church here. Baskets of white glads and pink carnations adorned the altar of the church where the Reverend Henry Kozak performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Henry George McDonald was soloist for nuptial selections accompanied at the organ by Miss Mary Ann White.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Scott, Sr., Virginia route one and the groom is the son of Harold J. Brannan of Virginia.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Dennis Drogan of Carbondale, was matron of honor. Mrs. Roger Barnet, Jacksonville, classmate of the bride, and Mrs. Donald Martin, also of Jacksonville and a sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

James Brannan of Carbondale attended his brother as best man. Scott Mefford, Virginia and Donald Martin, Jacksonville, brother-in-law of the groom, were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Earl Scott Jr., Virginia, brother of the bride and Stuart Larson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie with Alencon lace applique embellished with seed pearls and sequins. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a petal lace crown with pearl and crystal adornment. She carried a cascade of pink roses and ivy centered with a white orchid.

The bride's attendants wore pink brocaded satin, floor length, with matching head-dresses. They carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and carnations.

Patty Conner, the flower girl, also wore pink. John Scott, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer.

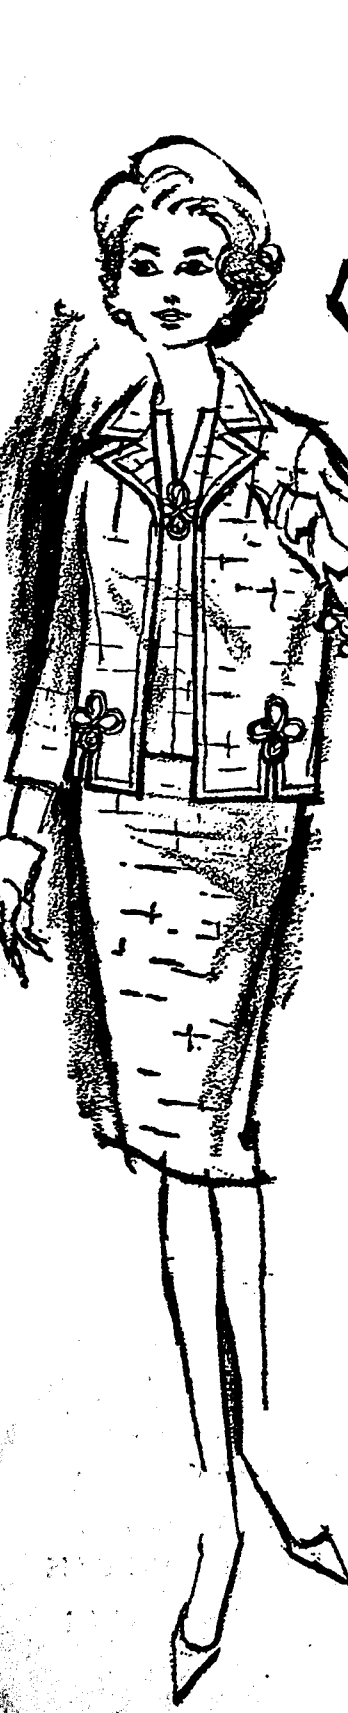

The mother of the bride wore royal blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose navy blue with black accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

A reception was held at Rossi's restaurant following the morning ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Earl Scott, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Keith Chapman, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Herbert Koenig, Jr., classmate of the bride; Miss Connie Morris, Mrs. Leonard Cates, aunt of the bride, Miss Ruth Jean Scott, sister of the bride.

Garden Club's Flower Show To Be In May

Miss Emma Mae Leonhard was guest speaker at the Morgan County Garden Club meeting Feb. 27 at the Youth Center and showed pictures taken on a three month's tour of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Miss Leonhard took members from St. James Park in London to castles, churches, and cathedrals; through gardens, formal and informal; to gay flower markets; over the moors; along the countryside with its traditional English hedge patterns, thatched roofs and stone fences.

Club members followed through Stratford, Canterbury, Dover, Kent, Ludlow, Salisbury, Dartmoor and Exmoor.

Pictures of high summer showed heather clothing the dry hill slopes in purple, sturdy ponies on the moor, fuschias, lupines, foxglove, gorse, and holly growing wild in scenes that beggar description. Pictured were rugged tinkers, peat bogs, Dartmoor almost forbidding, the gloomy setting for Wuthering Heights, Wordsworth's haunts, Edinborough, and the flower clock, Killarney and Kilgorham with flowers growing everywhere! The British Isles have a wonderful climate for flowers.

Miss Charlotte Sieber, music chairman, presented Mrs. George Vasey in a program of piano solos. Mrs. Clarence Reid led the pledge to the flag and Mrs. Albert Hoagland the club prayer.

During the business session, the president announced that the Spring Flower Show and Workshop will be held at the 4-H building at the Morgan County Fairgrounds in May. Cun Duel at Tiedown

By Nelson C. Nye

Published by Newspaper Enterprise Assn., © 1965, Nelson C. Nye

At the sheds, Charlie Mulins was walking a powerful, locking black stallion with a white star and snip. Several other horse walkers slouched along in procession. Between these and her, Jones observed the Grisswell stablehand Jee-ter, eyes fiercely alert above the dark tubes of his twin-barreled Greener.

Jones from the vantage of his saddle peered around, hoping to catch sight of Cathie's father. But the Gourds & Vine owner, when Jones' glance ran him down, was over by the sheds, deep in talk with Sig Baumeller. The sheriff watched them a while, thinking Grisswell would presently be done and one of the other of them move to some place which might permit a more casual approach. After fidgeting for several minutes under the stare of the gun fighter, Jones wheeled his mount and went looking for Geetch.

He found the Quarter Circle S owner holding forth in a group of well wishers who had money on him. The consensus of opinion seemed to have the dude's Thoroughbred whipped to a standstill before he so much as set foot on the track.

Jones was reluctant to intrude on this pleasure but he had either to speak with someone pretty quick or wash his hands of the whole upsetting business.

He kneed his horse over, was no easy thing to meet hearing the talk fall away as nudged conversationalists discovered his presence. Spangler did not help him. With his pale squinted stare performance sure ain't been above reproach."

Spangler's neck and chest swelled while the rest stared askance and the rancher's bloating features took on the color of fury. Then a scornful bark of a laugh leaped out of him. "When you goin' to grow up, Jones?"

That was pretty hard to take, hard in any circumstance but doubly so with these yaps looking on, stinging it up to pass around later. But Jones hung on, not letting Geetch throw him. "We're talkin' about you, an that dead guy, Mister. You can talk to me or you can talk to a warrant."

To himself Jones sounded astonishingly firm, a hard held restraint wearing noticeably thin in the harshening tones of that delivered ultimatum.

Inside, aghast, he was a quagmire of squirming, quivering contradictions, unsure even if he had any basis for threatening arrest.

And this blustery old man—no matter anything else, was still the county's first citizen, paying the most taxes, entitled by such to the veneration, allegiance and unfaltering support of each and every county official. But Jones had his back against a wall, too. For if Spangler had any hand in what had happened to that printer he was almost certainly concerned with the rest—the Purple Cow stickup, the wrecking of Gattison's press, Ferguson's death and, by the same token, that pair of slugs which had been thrown at Grisswell. It was all of a piece in Price Jones' head and he was faced with the job of getting at the truth of it. And if Geetch wasn't guilty, he had the right to be cleared.

JHS Romps To 77-55 Count And Regional Title

Creston Whitaker flies toward the basket for a one-handed two-pointer, two of his 28 scored Friday night.

Creston Whitaker takes a rebound over the back of New Berlin's Tom Muench during the Regional Friday night at the JHS Bowl.

Journal Sports

By BUFORD GREEN
Coach Rich Jones cited Jacksonville's balance as probably the deciding factor in the Crimsons' relatively easy romp through their Regional tourney this past week, while New Berlin coach Kevin Moore saw some early jitters as putting his Pretzels out of the running early.

Moore and his Pretzels were not particularly downcast after taking a 77-55 beating at the hands of the favored and host Crimsons, knowing when they came that it would take an upset of major proportion to get by the Jaks.

Attesting to Moore's claim of early jitters was Jacksonville's early 10-0 lead which New Berlin never overcame. It was three minutes before the Pretzels got off a shot from the field and just over five minutes before they got on the scoreboard.

"It was just another case of a small school coming in to play Jacksonville and it takes a few minutes before they realize they are just high school players like themselves," commented Moore.

"They tell me they think they can beat Jacksonville, but inside they still feel nervous. We don't feel bad about losing to Jacksonville, because we know they have a tremendous ball club, and we wish them the best of luck."

Moore had seen the Crimsons play numerous times during the year and said they did nothing different from what he had expected, that they just overpowered his Pretzels.

"I don't think they will have any trouble here in their own Sectional, but I have seen Galesburg play and I believe they are too strong for the Jacksonville."

Coach Jones felt especially good about the Crimsons' fine balanced scoring during the tournament. "The teams have been falling off on Whitaker, and sometimes Bone, thinking we are a one or two-man team, and we have proved we are not."

—O—
Jacksonville had four men in double figures in all three Regional games, including Friday night in the finals. Dennis Wegehoff was especially outstanding during the Regional, getting 16, 28 and 13 in the three games, breaking up the defenses with blazing shooting from the outside.

Jones was another who could not say enough about the sparkling play of guard Creston Whitaker. "He's definitely all-state if anyone is."

—O—
Jones also cited the play of sub guard Dennis Sergeant. Sergeant came in midway in the opening eight minutes after starter Dean Hess suffered an eye injury and scored ten points in the remaining time.

Hess, who was jabbed in his right eye on a scuffle off a fast break, did not reenter the game, but should be ready to play in the Sectional next week.

—O—
"We haven't been going anything different," commented Jones when reminded of the Crimsons' high-scoring games the last four times out, averaging over 80 per game. "It's just a case of the boys not caring who they are playing or when, but just going out to play 32 minutes of good, hard basketball."

Gifford Listed Among Retired

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Gifford, veteran flanker back of the New York Giants, apparently has joined teammates Y. A. Tittle, Alex Webster, Andy Rustelli and Jack Stroud in retirement after 12 seasons in the National Football League.

Gifford hasn't yet said yes or no, but the Giants' pre-season information sheet distributed Friday lists him among the retired veterans.

Gifford, 33 years old, is a sports broadcaster when he isn't playing football and reportedly may get the assignment of describing Giant games on television next fall.

The Southern California graduate retired once before, missing the entire 1961 season, due to the combination of broadcasting duties and a severe concussion received in the final game of the 1960 season. He returned the next year.

FRASER MAY TURN SWIM PROFESSIONAL
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Dawn Fraser will turn professional unless her 10-year suspension by the Australian Swimming Union is lifted, friends said Friday.

The world's fastest woman swimmer refused to comment on the pro report. Instead, she said her aim is to have her amateur standing restored by the courts, if necessary.

"This suspension is ridiculous," the 27-year-old Miss Fraser, winner of gold medals in three Olympics who has broken 36 world records during her career.

"We were convicted without a chance to defend ourselves," she said, in commenting on the ban of herself and three young teammates.

Without spelling out the details of the offenses, the ASU suspended Miss Fraser last Monday for 10 years, Linda McGill for four years, and Marlene Dayman and Nanette Duncan for three years each.

New Berlin's Dale Emerson and Jacksonville's Tom Andrews take it laying down, while five other players direct their attention toward the ball. They are, l-r, Dennis Wegehoff, Steve Bone, Creston Whitaker, Ron Coleman, Alan Brown and Tom Muench.

Mason City Rolls By Pleasant Plains

HAVANA — Mason City came on strong in the second half from the floor for the evening here Friday night to win the Havana Regional title with a decisive 76-52 victory over Pleasant Plains. The victory moves the Huskies into the Jacksonville Sectional tournament this coming week along with Rushville, Raymond, Lincolnwood, and Jacksonville.

The Plains-Mason City contest was tight throughout the first half, with the count knotted six times during the first 16 minutes. After one stanza the score was tied at 15-all, and the Huskies finally moved in front to stay midway through the second period on a bucket by Bob Werner to break a 23-23 tie.

Werner, who had 13 in the first two periods, tallied again, and Mason City moved to a commanding 34-26 halftime edge. The eventual winners dominated the third quarter, with a 20-13 scoring bulge over the Cardinals.

During the final eight minutes Plains had to press in attempting to get the ball, with a high number of fouls resulting. Mason City broke through the Cardinal press repeatedly for easy buckets, and outcounted Plains 22-13 for the stanza to wrap up the championship.

The Huskies shot a hot 49% from the floor for the evening, with Werner finishing as high scorer with 27 points, followed by Russell Ainsworth with 22. Pleasant Plains hit at a relatively cold 30% clip, with Ron Bomke leading the Cardinal attack with 16 markers and Ken Tapscoatt adding 15.

Mason City will bring a 20-5 season record into the Sectional tournament, going against highly favored host Jacksonville on Wednesday night in the first round contest.

DUKE RUNS OVER WAKE FOREST 101-81

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Top-seeded Duke hit 16 of 18 shots in just over 10 minutes to start the last half and went on to trample Wake Forest 101-81 Friday night in the semifinals of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship basketball tournament.

Duke, ranked eighth nationally and gunning for its third straight conference crown, had a stiff first half fight before going on to beat Wake Forest for the fourth time this season. The half ended with Duke on top 42-37.

Steve Vacendak, Jack Martin and Hack Tison each scored four baskets as Duke rolled for 35 points and missed only two of 18 shots to take a 77-59 lead with just under 10 minutes to play.

WELLS, Nev. (AP)—The Wells-Carlton High School basketball game ended on schedule Thursday night, but there were only two players on the floor.

Carlton had only six men available at the start of the game, and through fouls, was down to one near the end of the game. Wells reduced its staff to one to make things even.

Wells won 89-29 to eliminate Carlton from the Eastern Division Zone Tournament.

55, but countering buckets by Hubbard and forward Keith Johnston held off the uprising.

The win moves the Wolves into Sectional tournament action next Wednesday night at Wood River.

Early Lead Sparks Berth In Sectional

By BUFORD GREEN
Jacksonville jumped to an early 10-0 lead that sparked the rest of the way in romping to an impressive 77-55 decision over New Berlin to cap their second straight Regional title, Friday night, before a packed house at the JHS Bowl.

The Crimsons, who now enter their Sectional next week against Mason City with a 23-4 slate, shot an impressive 55.3% from the field, including a 65% clip in the first half.

Creston Whitaker, Jacksonville's candidate for all-state honors, once again dazzled the standing-room only crowd, netting 28 points in the contest. Whitaker, the 6-0 jumping-jack who is rated one of the best players in Central Illinois and possibly in the state, threw in 16 in the first half, hitting five of six shots. For the game Whitaker connected on nine of 14 attempts from the field and ten of 13 from the foul line.

Blanced scoring behind Whitaker again was a big boost, as Dennis Wegehoff continued his hot Regional play with 12 and fellow forward Ron Coleman chipped in with 13. Dennis Wegehoff, who took over in the first quarter for an injured Dean Hess, added ten to the winning total. Hess was punched in his right eye on a rebound in the first quarter and never returned to the game.

Jacksonville's big early lead, which saw New Berlin go scoreless for just over five minutes and go without a shot from the field for three minutes, shot the Crimsons far enough in front for plenty of room to work.

Pretzels End 22-3
The game Pretzels, who bowed out of the state race with an impressive 22-3 record, fought back to within 16-8 at the close of the first round. From there Jacksonville once again established command and were never threatened.

Running up leads in the second half that reached as much as 23 points, the Crimsons had little trouble in putting down a pair of late Pretzel rallies that at one point brought the underdogs within 14.

Besides Whitaker's hot out-shooting, Coleman did his share with six of nine, Sergeant with four of seven and Tom Andrews, playing less than a half, three of five.

Jacksonville caught the Pretzels tight in the opening minutes, as Wegehoff canned two of his favorite from 20 feet out on the side, Whitaker canned five points and Steve Bone added a free toss for a 10-0 difference with 4:04 left to play in the opening quarters.

Pretzels Rolly Slightly
Tom Muench finally got New Berlin on the scoreboard with a charity throw with 2:58 left in the period, and Dave Garrison followed quickly with a 20-footer. Muench, Steve Riess and Garrison connected again before the stanza ended, leaving the count at 16-8.

The Crimsons shot out of sight to open the second canto, scoring the initial eight of the quarter. Sergeant hit a two-pointer from the top of the key, Bone added a charity throw and Whitaker led two fast breaks that netted buckets and cashed in on one from 15 feet for a 24-8 spread with 5:33 remaining in the half.

After going scoreless the first three minutes of the quarter again, New Berlin got buckets from Alan Brown underneath and Garrison from 20 feet but Jacksonville refused to let up.

Whitaker, who set off several fast breaks in the period with rebounds and quick streaks to the other end, followed with three more two-pointers, two from outside and one twisting layup through the Pretzel defense.

Rushville Claims Own Regional 75-61

RUSHVILLE — Grabbing an early lead here Friday night, the Rushville Rockets had little trouble with the Pittsfield Saukees and coasted home with a 75-61 triumph. The win moves the Rockets into the Jacksonville Sectional Tournament next Thursday night when they face Lincolnwood in the semi-final round.

Rushville opened up strong on an 11 point first quarter effort by Rocket forward Mick Lunt and held a 16-6 advantage after the initial six minutes of play. Forward Bob Lunt also chipped in eight, as the hosts led 18-10 at the quarter.

Shooting well from the field, Rushville continued to hit with consistency throughout the second frame, but an eight point outburst by Saukee guard Stan Boyd kept the visitors within range. Rushville connected at a blistering 58% clip during the half while Pittsfield could only manage 36%.

Trailing, by 11, the Saukees came out firing after the intermission to cut the Rushville spread to 39-34 with 5:30 remaining in the third period. Boyd again supplied the offensive punch netting eight in the frame.

The Rockets came out of their cold spell midway through the quarter to regain their 11 point bulge at the three quarter mark, 53-42.

Pittsfield again came alive in the opening minutes of the final frame on the outside shooting of guards Steve Sealock and Dennis McCartney, cutting the lead to 61-55 midway through the period.

Mick Lunt supplied the counter, however, netting eight for the hosts to ice the battle.

Mick Lunt captured high scoring honors in the tourney final, netting 28, while teammate Bob Lunt collected 18.

Terrell Decisions Machen For Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Gangling Ernie Terrell, effectively using his seven-inch edge in reach and a whip-like left jab, scored a unanimous 15-round decision over Eddie Machen for the WBA version of the heavyweight boxing title Friday night.

Terrell, 6-foot-6 Chicagoan, fought with a nearly-closed left eye from the sixth round on but steadily outpointed the 32-year-old Machen, veteran Redding, Calif., campaigner.

Terrell's triumph, his 13th in a row, created two heavyweight champions with Cassius Clay still recognized beyond the WBA realm and through most of the boxing world.

Although referee Sonny Weismann and judges Bill Doty and Dr. A. M. Duxler had the 199-pound Terrell winning handily, the International Amphitheatre crowd of about 8,000 loudly booed the verdict.

Minutes after the methodical bout ended, the crowd chanted loudly: "We want Eddie."

The AP score card had Terrell, weighing seven pounds more than Machen's 192, winning 71-61. A quick check of ringside writers brought a 6-2 pick for the 25-year-old Terrell.

No Knockdowns
There were no knockdowns, but plenty of slipping and wrestling as Machen was frustrated for the most part by Terrell's height, reach and lightning left jabs.

Machen had his best round in the eighth, when the referee took a look at Terrell's badly puffed left eye. In that round Machen nearly knocked out Terrell's mouthpiece with a vicious left hook to the jaw.

The attendance was announced unofficially at 6,587 and the gross gate at $47,115. Machen had a $20,000 guarantee.

Referee Weismann said Machen put himself at a disadvantage when he bent low to avoid punishment.

"Terrell is permitted to hit him when he was stooped over, but to the side, not the back," he said. "I warned Terrell once for hitting Machen on the back and after that he obeyed me."

Machen by bending low frequently not only took punches to the side but when he straightened up, Terrell was ready with his stinging left jabs.

Many Combinations
"Terrell often tossed off five left jabs in a row," the referee said. "Many times, at least three were blocked, but two would get through and give him points. I would say the effectiveness of Terrell's left jabs was the big difference."

The crowd, pulling for the half-foot shorter Machen, loosed a chorus of boos every time he was stooped and Terrell kept belting him.

The guitar-strumming Terrell, who now has a 37-4 record since turning pro in 1957, was in slight trouble only once after Machen's good eighth.

That was in the closing 15th when Machen, realizing he had to shoot the works, jolted him hard with a right and left combination. It hurt—but not enough.

Major Powers Cop Regional Titles Friday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thornton, the state's No. 1 team, breezed to victory in the regional championships of the Illinois High School Basketball Tournament Friday night.

Thornton boosted its record to 24-1 with a 73-56 triumph over Thornridge and will face Rich East in its first sectional hurdle at Harvey.

Rich East advanced with a 75-63 victory over Bloom of Chicago Heights to win the Bloom Regional. Rich East has a 13-11 record.

Freeport, the No. 4 team, and Proviso East, ranked sixth, had little difficulty in advancing to the sections. Freeport smothered Freeport Aquin 70-52 behind Ron Norman Jr.'s 25 points and Proviso East cruised to an 89-67 victory over Lyons of La Grange.

Ninth-ranked Moline, led by Geoff Smithers' 20 points, humbled Rock Island, 53-43, to win the East Moline Regional.

In one of the hardest fought encounters of the night, Coal City edged Pontiac, 86-83, in a triple overtime. Jay Vandueine scored two baskets in the final 42 seconds of the third overtime to give Coal City the victory.

Centralia Advances
Centralia, always a power from the South and ranked No. 12, grabbed the Salem Regional championship with a 61-48 triumph over Salem.

Trinity of Bloomington registered an upset with a 58-52 victory over Normal University High in the Normal Regional. Normal, seeded No. 1, had defeated Trinity twice this season by 7 and 17 points. But a balanced attack with five starters in double figures and paced by Greg Densen's 18 points was all Trinity needed to advance.

Normal bowed out with a 21-3 record while Trinity will take a 14-13 mark into the Decatur Sectional.

De LaSalle, a Chicago 2nd power, stormed to a 55-46 victory over Argo in the Blue Island Regional in the final minutes of play. Severia Brown, scoring 10 of his 16 points in the final period, led the Meteor attack which advanced De LaSalle with a 25-1 record.

Pekin, the state's No. 2 team and defending champion, had no difficulty with Peoria Limestone and the Chinks smashed their way to a 80-59 victory.

A rough-catch battle saw Rockford West trip Rockford East 53-52 in overtime. Jim Ambrose broke a 50-50 tie with six seconds to go in the extra period. He scored the first of a one-point situation, missed the second but grabbed the rebound for the winning basket.

Rockford East added a gap-closing basket at the buzzer.

Peoria Manual turned in a surprising 46-41 victory over Peoria Central in the Richwoods championship. Central had been ranked No. 16 in the state.

Decatur, the No. 3 team in the state, trailed by nine points in the second half but rebounded for a 55-47 victory over Decatur Eisenhower. Dave Scholz, who led the victors with 22 points, put the Reds ahead to stay at 41-39 with nearly six minutes to play.

Batavia became the only district team to reach the sectional by edging Marmion Military, 76-74. Batavia used a strong balanced attack with four men in double figures to accomplish the feat.

Galesburg smashed Monmouth 87-50.
